Making Health Better 2022

Embarking on meaningful transformation

2022 was an amazing year for our organization. On Feb. 1, more than 60,000 of the most talented, committed health professionals in Michigan came together to launch a new health system. It marked the beginning of a journey full of new learnings and opportunities. Together, we committed to our mission, vision and values. We refined and expanded our shared goals and top priorities. We improved care coordination between regions. We pioneered procedures. We implemented leading-edge technologies. And we impacted and improved health for those we serve.

Last year, our adult lung transplant program earned the distinction of having the highest first-year survival outcomes in the nation, and our adult heart & lung, liver and kidney, and pediatric kidney programs earned this distinction in our state. Our research teams broke new ground with an innovative oxygen treatment called TherOx that revives heart muscles after a heart attack, and a blood test to identify dangerous fetal heart defects well before birth. We grew membership in our health plan to 1.3 million, providing more than 80,000 more people access to coverage that has been recognized for its quality both in the state and nationally. Through clinical programs, medical education, research, community outreach and integrated care and coverage, we are improving health, instilling humanity and inspiring hope across our state.

Today, I'm happy to say we are on track to fulfill our bold new vision of a future where health is simple, affordable, equitable and exceptional. And we are on track to fulfill it in new ways, with solutions that our patients, health plan members and communities have been waiting for.

Our goal in coming together was to become a health system designed for the people we serve. In 2023, we are poised to advance this goal through enhanced digital capabilities, sharing best practices, investing in our culture and living our values of compassion, collaboration, clarity, curiosity and courage.

I am beyond proud of all we have accomplished this year, and look forward to working with our exceptional team to continue evolving our system into the future. Our goal is nothing less than to be the best system we can be and to create better health for all.

Coming together to transform health

In 2022, we began a journey. Corewell Health was launched around a bold vision to transform health. We brought together two leading health systems to form a new system committed to helping everyone be well so that they can live their healthiest life possible. We know that the status quo is not an option for the future of health. We see an opportunity to lead the way in defining what comes next.

We now have a unified team to tackle the challenges we face for the people we serve. Corewell Health is off to a strong start, and we are excited about our future. We are striving to make health care and health coverage simple, affordable, equitable and exceptional. Patients, families and health plan members can expect to receive high-quality care, services and outcomes with a wider breadth of services now available throughout our system.

Mission

Improve health.
Instill humanity.
Inspire hope.

Vision

A future where health is simple, affordable, equitable and exceptional.

Values

Compassion.
Collaboration.
Clarity.
Curiosity.
Courage.

This year we came together as Corewell Health team members. We defined our new mission, vision and values. We gathered for the first Corewell Health Research and Robotics summits. And we streamlined communication and best practice sharing for team members by investing in our digital platforms.

Laying the foundation

A strong structure depends on a solid foundation. As we came together, we laid the groundwork for building an organization that would thrive.

After announcing our new system on Feb. 1, 2022, we quickly formed a board of directors and system leadership team, each made up of accomplished leaders who are distinguished in their fields and will help us carry out the mission of our new organization.

We formed an integration steering committee and surveyed our team members for their input on our system's new name. Behind the scenes, our digital teams worked to align our platforms to ensure reliable communication and high-quality patient records throughout our system.

In October, we unveiled our new name, Corewell Health, which reflects that at our core we are here to help people be well. By the end of 2022, our name and logo were being implemented throughout our system.

With diligence, strong planning and teamwork, we accomplished major milestones and grew our creativity, collaboration and commitment.

Integration milestones met in 2022

- 1 Multi-year synergy targets approved
- 2 Multi-year integration plan approved
- 3 Business platform standardization
- 4 Clinical and revenue cycle platform standardization
- 5 Wave 1 integrated roadmap approved
- 6 Wave 2 integrated roadmap approved
- 7 Priority Health becomes enterprise medical benefit provider
- 8 Enterprise branding program approved
- 9 Culture program roadmap approved
- 10 Group Purchasing Organization (GPO) roadmap approved

Complementary strengths

Our systems immediately learned from each other, building on our complementary strengths to transform health.

- In March, clinicians from across our system collaborated to prepare William Beaumont University Hospital in Royal Oak for a triennial Joint Commission survey. This collaboration allowed both groups to share and learn best practices from one another and to discuss lessons learned from previous Joint Commission site visits.
- In June, our smoking cessation workgroup met with colleagues from our lifestyle medicine department to discuss connecting patients throughout our system with smoking cessation programs and tobacco treatment specialists, resulting in more seamless care for countless patients.
- In October, we collaborated to expand our use of CAR-T immunotherapy for patients with certain types of blood cancer. This treatment harnesses the patient's immune system to fight cancer cells. Our system now has two of the fewer than 150 medical facilities nationwide to offer this innovative treatment.
- In November, we began coordinating our quality/safety/experience strategies and practices and working toward systemwide standards for ensuring the best patient experience and outcomes.

Progressing toward our vision

Making health simple

Meet Ava

At age 10, Ava Weis' life was turned upside down when she was diagnosed with Hodgkin lymphoma. She began a regimen of chemotherapy in west Michigan. This helped, but Ava's doctors realized she would benefit from specialized proton therapy. This innovative treatment targets tumors more precisely, with fewer side effects. But it is only available for pediatric patients in southeast Michigan. With Corewell Health newly formed as one system, team members were able to quickly and easily connect to help Ava get the care she needed.

Ava is now in remission, back in school and resuming her normal life. Bringing our team together helped Ava's family easily access the treatment they needed, making the transition from one care center to another completely seamless.

Making health simpler means more seamless connections, more opportunities for treatment and more investment in innovation.

We want to make sure that Ava has a normal, healthy quality of life.

Simplifying your experience

Making the care experience simpler includes easing the process of leaving the hospital when you are ready to go home. Pharmacy services were recently relocated to St. Joseph Hospital, allowing patients and caregivers to pick up prescriptions when leaving the hospital. We improved this process by establishing our Meds-to-Beds program, allowing patients to opt in to have their prescriptions delivered to their bedside prior to discharge. It's just one way we're streamlining the health care experience, taking out extra steps so that you can get home sooner to continue your healing journey.

Making health affordable

The free resources I received were crucial to my health.

Jamal McGee

Meet Jamal

Jamal McGee has a lifelong passion for cooking. When he earned his culinary degree, it symbolized a new life and new possibilities after choices he regretted from his youth had resulted in a prison term. Jamal knew that getting his record expunged would open more doors and opportunities, but he found the legal process prohibitively expensive and confusing. Last year, Jamal reached out to Corewell Health's Center for Better Health and Wellness in Benton Harbor. The center connected Jamal with food assistance and Medicaid, which he qualified for but hadn't been receiving, and with Legal Aid of Western Michigan, which helped him expunge his record and open up new possibilities for his future.

Corewell Health helps break down barriers of cost to help people achieve health and wellness.

Evolving toward value

Corewell Health is dedicated to making bold moves to transform the traditional fee-for-service model to value-based health and wellness. This means focusing on health, wellness, prevention and behavioral health at every step of the way in a person's life, not just when they need to go to the hospital. It's part of how we are making health more affordable, and more importantly, how we are living out our mission to instill humanity.

In 2022 we opened two new Advanced Primary Care clinics to serve people ages 65+ in their journey toward health and wellness. Our first clinic reduced emergency department utilization and increased patient satisfaction. This is an important step to increasing health and wellness while keeping costs down. We plan to open two new clinics in 2023. This is just one program that illustrates our commitment to a new and better way to provide care.

Making health equitable

Meet Jermale and Anissa

Jermale and Anissa's Malamiah Juice Bar has become a local staple for its healthy homemade fresh-pressed juices. Corewell Health has partnered with Malamiah to help connect them with larger distributors and market their products as healthy options at some of our locations for our team members and visitors. Now the relationship has become a conduit for three more minority-owned vendors to connect with Corewell Health.

Corewell Health is improving access to healthy nutrition options by supporting and collaborating with suppliers from underserved communities.

We asked Jermale and Anissa, how can we help you scale? How's it going with distribution?

Our pledge to act

To grow health equity, we need to create a culture of understanding. As we came together as a new health system, we deepened our listening and learning through activities led by our system's diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) team. Many of our team members:

- Completed Unconscious Bias Training.
- Completed "Safe and Affirming" training to provide informed and supportive care to LGBTQ+ patients

Building on these conversations, our system released our Pledge To Act. The pledge acknowledges that structural and systemic racism exist and continue to harm the health and well-being of the communities we serve. The pledge states our commitment to:

- Foster an internal culture that is diverse and inclusive
- Increase team member knowledge, skills and capacity
- Conduct rigorous analyses of our policies, practices and cultural norms
- Advocate for a fair and just distribution of social and economic resources
- Listen deeply to our communities, acting on what is heard and engaging authentically

This pledge ensures we are acting as one system to improve health equity, tracking to the same goals and effectively sharing resources and expertise.

Making health exceptional

It’s really just a miracle. It blows my mind that they can do things like this.

Dennis Bergstrom

Meet Dennis

As soon as he awoke from his 10-hour lung transplant, Dennis Bergstrom noticed the difference his new lungs made. “Breathing seemed so easy to me,” Dennis said. “I was just struggling to breathe before and was on oxygen. I would definitely call this life-changing.” Dennis’ procedure in December marked a milestone: it was the 300th lung transplant performed by Corewell Health. But more important than quantity is quality: in July, the Scientific Registry of Transplant Recipients (SRTR) rated the Corewell Health Richard DeVos Heart and Lung Transplant Program’s adult lung transplant survival rates the best in the nation. The SRTR also rated Corewell Health’s adult heart and lung, adult liver, adult kidney and pediatric kidney transplant survival rates among the best in Michigan. “We knew this was the right place to do it and that we had the right team,” said Dennis. “Their attention to detail was amazing.”

Corewell Health is pushing the boundaries of what is possible to transform lives.

Giving surgeons a closer look

A surgeon can look into the human body with an expert eye, and with advanced tools they can get an even better look. Corewell Health added seven new da Vinci robots to its robotic surgery program in 2022, bringing its total to 24. The robots give surgeons a 3-D view inside a patient while they are operating, and connect to easily maneuverable arms. These allow surgeons to get into tighter spaces with less damage to the body. The result is smaller incisions, less pain, and less time to recover for patients. “Patients are experiencing more outpatient surgery, and that allows them to get home, get back to work quicker, and use fewer narcotics, which is a huge benefit,” said Dr. Krikor Arman, medical director of robotic surgery at Corewell Health Beaumont Grosse Pointe Hospital.

Looking to the future

2022 was just the beginning for Corewell Health, a first step into a new future. As a system we are defined by innovation, pushing the boundaries of what's possible to transform the lives of those we serve.

- Corewell Health specialists piloted TherOx, an innovative oxygen treatment that revives heart muscles after a heart attack, similar to a hyperbaric chamber-level oxygen to the heart. We will build on this innovative therapy and discover how we can apply it more widely.
- Corewell Health researchers discovered a blood test that can prenatally identify dangerous fetal heart defects. Their study, which was featured in the American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology, showed how this test could double the number of heart defects currently detected before birth.
- Corewell Health received a grant from the Helmsley Charitable Trust to expand access to cardiovascular care in rural areas. This effort will share the knowledge of our interventional cardiology team to help cardiac catheterization labs in the upper Midwest and Nevada establish robotic-assisted coronary programs.
- Corewell Health launched its Precision Health Initiative to offer a new approach for early prediction and prevention of specific diseases by identifying patients with a genetic risk of developing specific medical conditions.

What's next

Here are some of the goals and initiatives we will focus on in 2023:

Rapidly expanding support for behavioral health in our communities, through additional providers, innovative partnerships, integrated approaches, regulatory changes, new facilities and more

Collaborating with national suppliers to equip our parking facilities with electric vehicle charging solutions

Expanding our "Grow Your Own" program for neonatal nurse practitioners to help them learn, grow and achieve their personal and professional goals

Creating a robust data library, and strengthening our data-gathering capabilities in support of our diversity, equity & inclusion and health equity efforts

Focusing on the bigger picture of what affects health and well-being, including inequities in housing, education, nutrition and other social factors

Powered by philanthropy

We rely on community supporters—including donors, foundations and community partners—to power our innovation for the future. Philanthropy transforms our communities by supporting and enhancing the work of our clinical teams and making patient experience better through clinical innovation and research.

- Corewell Health Foundation Southeast Michigan concluded a multi-year campaign to support the Beaumont Troy Neonatal Intensive Care Unit. Philanthropy covered two-thirds of the cost of building this cutting-edge facility. The foundation also received a significant leadership gift to renovate the William Beaumont University Hospital cardiovascular intensive care unit.
- Corewell Health Foundation West Michigan surpassed its goal for the first phase of its Behavioral Health Initiative, which included a new Youth Behavioral Health Clinic and an expansion of the Blue Envelope Suicide Prevention Program.
- Corewell Health Foundation Southwest Michigan celebrated the long-anticipated opening of the St. Joseph Hospital Pavilion. Philanthropic support was essential to this mission-critical facility dedicated to delivering world-class care to its communities.
