

Hospice and Palliative Medicine Fellowship Program Aims

- Development of expertise in the prevention, assessment, and management of physical symptoms. Caring for the psychological and spiritual needs of the patient and family.
- Train fellows to be masters at communication and patient-directed care with an interdisciplinary approach.
- Fellows will learn how social determinants of health impact the patients we serve, how to work through barriers to healthcare, and promote equity in care.
- Educate fellows in the leadership, administrative, and educational skills that are essential to HPM.
