Jingyuan holds an LLB from Fudan University and an LLM (IP and IT law) from London School of Economics (Distinction). She is a PRC qualified lawyer and a practising solicitor in England and Wales. Jingyuan focuses on TMT sector and has been based in Shanghai, Beijing, London, Hong Kong and Shenzhen for her practice. She has in-depth knowledge of the TMT industry from various perspectives, primarily advising compliance (especially on global data and competition), cross border investment (strategy and financing), startup financing and IP. Ranked in Chambers Asia and Legal500 Asia from 2017-2020, clients have quoted Jingyuan as being "well versed in assisting tech start-ups with early stage investments", "knows the business very well and has a wealth of experience; offers very clear and well thought out advice; super smart, and totally proactive."

Alexander Brown (UK)

Partner, TMT sector head, Simmons & Simmons

Alexander Brown graduated from University of Cambridge and is a practising solicitor in England and Wales. Alex has over 20 years of experience in advising clients on data protection and data privacy issues. He is regularly ranked in Chambers and Legal500 for his depth and breadth of TMT knowledge and recognised as expert in the field. Alex has been advising multinational European financial institutions and telecom companies on data compliance, GDPR, data monetisation, IT outsourcing and regulatory matters and gained reputations among clients. Alex has contributed to the publications concerning data protection and privacy law, these are highly appreciated by legislators, scholars and practitioners in this field. Clients once described him as a "real genius, providing real helpful practical advice" (Chambers UK). Legal500 appraised him as "intuitive and savvy" (2019).

Speakers

Koen Platteau (Belgium)

Partner, Competition, Simmons & Simmons

He has over 20 years' experience in Brussels and is the country head of Simmons' Belgium office. Koen advises clients on EU and Belgian competition law matters and has significant experience in merger control, cartel cases and abuse of dominance cases, compliance programmes, competition litigation/arbitration and state aid matters. He also advises more broadly on EU law matters such as free movement and various regulatory issues. His broad ranging practice spans the energy, life sciences and TMT sectors. He regularly advises and represents clients before EU institutions, the Belgian Competition Authority, the EU Courts in Luxembourg and national courts. Clients appreciate that Koen is "flexible in the way he responds to requests." and "available, approachable and I can feel that he has taken time to understand us as a client" (Chambers). Koen has published the European Union law section in Global Legal Insights to: Merger Control 5th Edition. He graduated from Ghent University.

Raza Rizvi (UAE)

Partner, TMT, Simmons & Simmons

Raza is head of regional TMT practice which covers Middle East and Africa. Raza has particular expertise around the legal, regulatory and policy impact of emerging tech and sector convergence through "first of their kind" projects. Under his leadership, our Middle East TMT team recently named TMT Law Firm of the Year at the Middle East Legal Awards 2020. His core practice includes advising on complex commercial arrangements, data rights and obligations (as a Certified Information Privacy Professional), sector-specific regulation, competition laws and the commercialisation of intangible assets in the Middle East. His clients include well known game developers Activision Blizzard and Electronic Arts. He is regularly ranked by Legal500 and Chambers as a leading TMT and FinTech lawyer, a client said Raza "has a very well-rounded perspective; he obviously puts quite a lot of thought into things and is able to see them from a regulatory angle as well as from a purely commercial and transactional perspective." (Chambers 2020).

Speakers' information

Matthew Tuchband (US)

Counsel, Export Control and International Trade,
Arent Fox

Matthew advises the firm's US and foreign clients on foreign trade and banking compliance with all aspects of economic sanctions and embargoes administered by the US Department of the Treasury's Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC). Prior to joining Arent Fox, Matthew served for 21 years at the Treasury Department's Office of the Chief Counsel for Foreign Assets Control, including the last 14 years as the Deputy Chief Counsel. Matthew was involved in almost every important sanctions development of the last two decades, including the extension of OFAC jurisdiction over transactions by foreign financial institutions, the formation and evolution of the "50 percent" rule, the increasing use of "secondary sanctions," and major shifts in sanctions on Cuba, Iran, North Korea, Ukraine/Russia, and Venezuela, among others. Considered uniquely skilled in the uses and limitations of the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (IEEPA), Matthew was involved in drafting over 65 sanctions-related Executive Orders signed by the President. For his work, Matthew received the Secretary's Honor Award, the Legal Division's Excellence in Management Award, and several Meritorious Service Awards, among others. Matthew graduated from Brandeis University (BA) and Georgetown University (JD).

Marwa Hassoun (US)

Partner, Export Control, Arent Fox

Marwa advises US and non-US companies on international regulatory issues, including civilian and military export controls, economic sanctions, anti-boycott regulations, and customs regulations. Her practice includes drafting license applications, ruling requests, protests, commodity jurisdiction and classification requests, advisory opinion requests, disclosures, and other submissions to various government agencies, including the Directorate of Defense Trade Control (DDTC), the Bureau of Industry and Security (BIS), Customs and Border Protection (CBP), the Census Bureau, and the Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC). Marwa has experience in various industries, including aerospace, space, defense, arms, telecommunications, electronics, information technology, chemicals, and industrial manufacturing. Marwa graduated from UC Berkeley (JD) and University of Minnesota (BA). Marwa currently serves on the board of directors for the California Global Trade & Logistics Advisory Committee. Speakers

David R. Hanke (US)

Partner, National Security, Arent Fox

Dave is a leading national security and public policy lawyer for domestic and foreign companies, especially those navigating the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS) and its implementation of the Foreign Investment Risk Review Modernization Act (FIRRMA). Dave represents clients at the intersection of business and national security on matters and advises companies on U.S. Government policy regarding strategic technology issues, such as 5G telecommunications infrastructure, and helps clients interface effectively with federal agencies and Congress. He is regularly invited to speak at industry, think tank, and academic conferences and quoted in major national news stories. Prior to joining Arent Fox, Dave spent over 12 years on Capitol Hill, serving in a variety of senior national security staff positions, including as a Professional Staff Member on the U.S. Senate Select Committee on Intelligence (SSCI) and as Counsel for National Security Affairs to Senator John Cornyn (R-TX), then-Senate Majority Whip. While working on Capitol Hill, he was the primary staff architect of FIRRMA and the chief strategist behind its 2018 enactment. He was also the original staff architect of Senator Cornyn's "secure 5G" legislation (a version of which was later introduced as the Secure 5G and Beyond Act of 2019). Dave graduated from Indiana University Robert H. McKinney School of Law (JD) and Indiana University (BS).

Aman Kakar (US)

Associate, National Security, Arent Fox

Aman has experience in a wide range of international trade issues, including trade remedy, export compliance and enforcement actions. Aman has represented sovereign and corporate clients in a variety of anti-dumping and countervailing duty issues, including major investigations and reviews before the Department of Commerce (DOC) and investigations before the International Trade Commission (ITC). Because these matters often result in appeals to national courts and bi-lateral and multi-lateral tribunals, he has appeared before the Court of International Trade, the US Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and NAFTA, and other dispute resolution panels. Prior to joining Arent Fox, Aman was a staff attorney at the US Department of Commerce in the Office of Chief Counsel for Trade Enforcement & Compliance. He advised International Trade Administration officials on statutory and regulatory requirements, judicial precedent, and agency practice during the course of antidumping and countervailing duty proceedings and regulatory rulemaking processes. Aman graduated from University of Pittsburgh School of Law (JD) and University of Maryland (BS).
