Clayton

His name is Clayton, and his journey with scoliosis is a story of strength and resilience. Diagnosed at age 3 with a severe “S”-shaped curve, his early treatments were painful and ineffective—until his family found Shriners Children’s. “For the first time in years, he said, ‘Mommy, it doesn’t hurt,’” recalls his mom, Jenny. Now 13, Clayton continues his scoliosis treatment with bracing and follow-up care from his specialized team. Full of energy, laughter, and smiles, Clayton is once again the happy kid who enjoys spreading joy to others.

Lucy

Her name is Lucy, and her journey with osteogenesis imperfecta (OI) began at just 3 months old. Sometimes called “brittle bone disease,” her family posted about her condition on social media. This led a friend to recommend Shriners Children’s, prompting the family to visit the hospital’s outreach clinic in Beaufort, South Carolina. Since then, Lucy receives regular follow-up care, including X-rays to monitor her bones, vertebrae, and lower back. She works hard to stay strong and safe, and has not suffered any fractures. With each visit, Lucy’s smile shines — and so does her trust in the team that cares for her.

Wyatt

Wyatt's story may have started with heartbreak, but today, he's rewriting it with strength, joy, and unstoppable determination. At just 7 months old, he was paralyzed overnight by transverse myelitis, a rare disorder that caused inflammation of the spinal cord and changed his life in an instant. But from that moment on, Wyatt faced every challenge with grit and determination.

Whether he's building strength in therapy or scoring on the basketball court, he does it all with heart. "Shriners Children's has allowed Wyatt to not just survive a terrible diagnosis, but to excel," says his mom, Abby. From wheels to wins, Wyatt shows the world what resilience truly looks like.

Brandon

At just 6 years old, he was suddenly paralyzed on the right side of his body and diagnosed with acute flaccid myelitis (AFM), a rare neurological condition that affects the spinal cord. After the initial crisis, Brandon began intensive therapy at Shriners Children's Greenville, where creative treatments and custom braces helped him regain mobility. "Shriners Children's didn't just change Brandon's life—they changed our whole family's," says his mom, Kathleen. Today, Brandon is thriving—playing sports, launching a woodworking business, and proving that determination can turn any challenge into a new beginning.

Sam

His name is Sam, and he has led his life with determination and purposeful growth — leading to a future full of promise. Diagnosed with cerebral palsy, a group of disorders affecting movement and coordination, Sam became a patient at Shriners Children's Greenville, where his care included Botox injections, orthotics, Baclofen clinic visits and motion analysis to improve his walking. Through treatment and years of hard work, Sam no longer needs a walker. "Shriners Children's celebrates that kids are different in their own ways," says his mom, Allison. Now 17, Sam has big plans to attend college — and nothing is slowing him down.

Ellie

Ellie's journey began with uncertainty, but it quickly became a story of strength, hope and progress. Diagnosed at 14 months with cerebellar hypoplasia — a rare genetic disorder affecting balance, coordination and speech — she began weekly physical and occupational therapy at Shriners Children's Greenville. From therapy to surgery, Ellie has gone from taking her first steps to walking and talking with confidence. "Miracles happen every day at Shriners Children's, and my daughter is proof of that," says her dad, Donald. Now, at 15, Ellie moves forward with determination — step by step, and always with confidence.

Sadie

Before birth, doctors diagnosed Sadie with arthrogryposis multiplex congenita (AMC), a rare muscle disorder that causes stiff joints and limited muscle development. That's when her mom, Jessi, was introduced to Shriners Children's and their prenatal consultation program — offering answers, hope, and a team ready to walk beside them. Since then, Sadie's path has been marked with achievements, each one more empowering than the last. This year, the teenager reached a new one: driving. With determination and the support of her care team, Sadie continues to prove that nothing can stand in her way.

Blakely

Her name is Blakely, and her journey began with unanswered questions. After seeing multiple doctors with no clear diagnosis, she came to Shriners Children's — and everything changed. Blakely was quickly diagnosed with Klippel-Feil syndrome, a rare condition where the bones in the neck are fused together. An MRI revealed even more: scoliosis and a tethered spinal cord that required urgent surgery. That surgery was a turning point. "Her surgeon told us she could have been paralyzed if it hadn't been caught in time," her mom says. Today, Blakely is thriving — and her family is filled with gratitude. "We will forever be thankful to Shriners for giving Blakely the quality of life she deserves."

Alice

Her name is Alice, and her halo was fit for a princess — rhinestones, glitter and all. Diagnosed with scoliosis, her spine curved to a dangerous 105 degrees. At Shriners Children's, Alice underwent halo traction and spent three months in the hospital — meeting Elsa and making sure she learned every staff member's name. Today, she continues treatment with bracing and ongoing care. "Without Shriners, we don't know if Alice would still be here," said her great aunt Donna. Alice's journey isn't over — but her strength and spirit lead the way.
