7.15 Postponements, Championship Outcomes Due to Inclement Weather:

7.15.1 For most Conference sports, the championship shall conclude no later than the original dates of competition, regardless of any weather-related delays or postponements. This shall be true in baseball, men's & women's golf, men's & women's lacrosse, men's & women's soccer, volleyball, men's & women's indoor track & field, rifle, wrestling, and men's & women's cross country. Men's & women's basketball would be determined by a decision made by the Commissioner's office and the basketball committee. (Updated 7/18)

If the tournament cannot be completed as originally planned due to inclement weather conditions, the following measures should be followed (in order).

7.15.2 In the event the tournament cannot be played at all due to inclement weather, the highest-ranking team as determined by Golfstat (not Division Rating) will be declared the conference champion and will represent the conference during the NCAA championship play;

7.15.3 In the event two or more teams enter the tournament tied in the Golfstat rankings (not Division Rating) and the tournament is cancelled due to inclement weather prior to the start of or the completion of an entire round, the conference champion will be determined by a coin toss between the highest ranking team(s) if there is a two-team tie for the highest ranking. In the event there are more than two teams tied for the highest ranking, the conference champion will be determined by a coin toss elimination process. The team deemed the winner by this process will be declared the conference champion and will represent the conference in NCAA championship play;

7.15.4 In the event the tournament has commenced, but the first round cannot be completed and the tournament is subsequently cancelled, the highest-ranked team entering the tournament as determined by Golfstat (not Division Rating) will be declared the conference champion and will represent the conference during NCAA championship play. In the event of a tie, the conference will follow the coin toss procedure listed under 7.15.3 above;

7.15.5 In the event half the field has completed 9 holes of a round and play is suspended, the remaining holes will be completed as soon as conditions allow. If nine (9) holes of the round cannot be completed by half the field on that day, the round will be cancelled and no scores will count. (Clarified 08/09)

7.15.6 In the event the tournament has commenced and the first round has been completed or any subsequent rounds have been completed, the tournament champion will be determined based upon the conference tournament scores. The team who is leading the tournament at the time play is suspended or subsequently cancelled will be declared the conference champion and will represent the conference during NCAA championship play. In the event that there is a tie between two teams, the conference champion will be determined by comparing the scores of the 5th players on the last day of competition. In the event that a champion cannot be determined using the last day scores of the 5th player, the conference will determine the champion using the 5th player's total scores for the tournament. In the event that a champion cannot be determined using the two methods mentioned above, the conference will resort to head-to-head competition of the teams during the year. Finally, if a conference champion cannot be determined by the methods listed above, the conference will follow the coin toss procedure listed under 7.15.3 above.
