I began working with Golfbreaks in 2004 to coordinate international trips for our members. Their organization and attention to detail have significantly eased the process of providing a world-class experience for our travelers. Golfbreaks is incredibly thorough in their planning, yet flexible enough to accommodate last-minute changes, something I find invaluable.

What trips can I run?

Signature Golf Getaways

Create unforgettable golf experiences to world-class destinations like Kiawah Island, TPC Sawgrass, or Pebble Beach Resorts.

Member-Guest Escapes

Offer a premium trip for your most engaged members, great for client appreciation, member-guest events, or club loyalty.

Instructional Retreats

Host a coaching trip with built-in practice range time, on-course lessons, or TrackMan integration, tailored to your teaching style.

Bucket-List Tours

Take your group overseas to play the legendary links of Ireland or Scotland. We'll handle every detail from lodging, tee times, and transfers to tournament experiences.

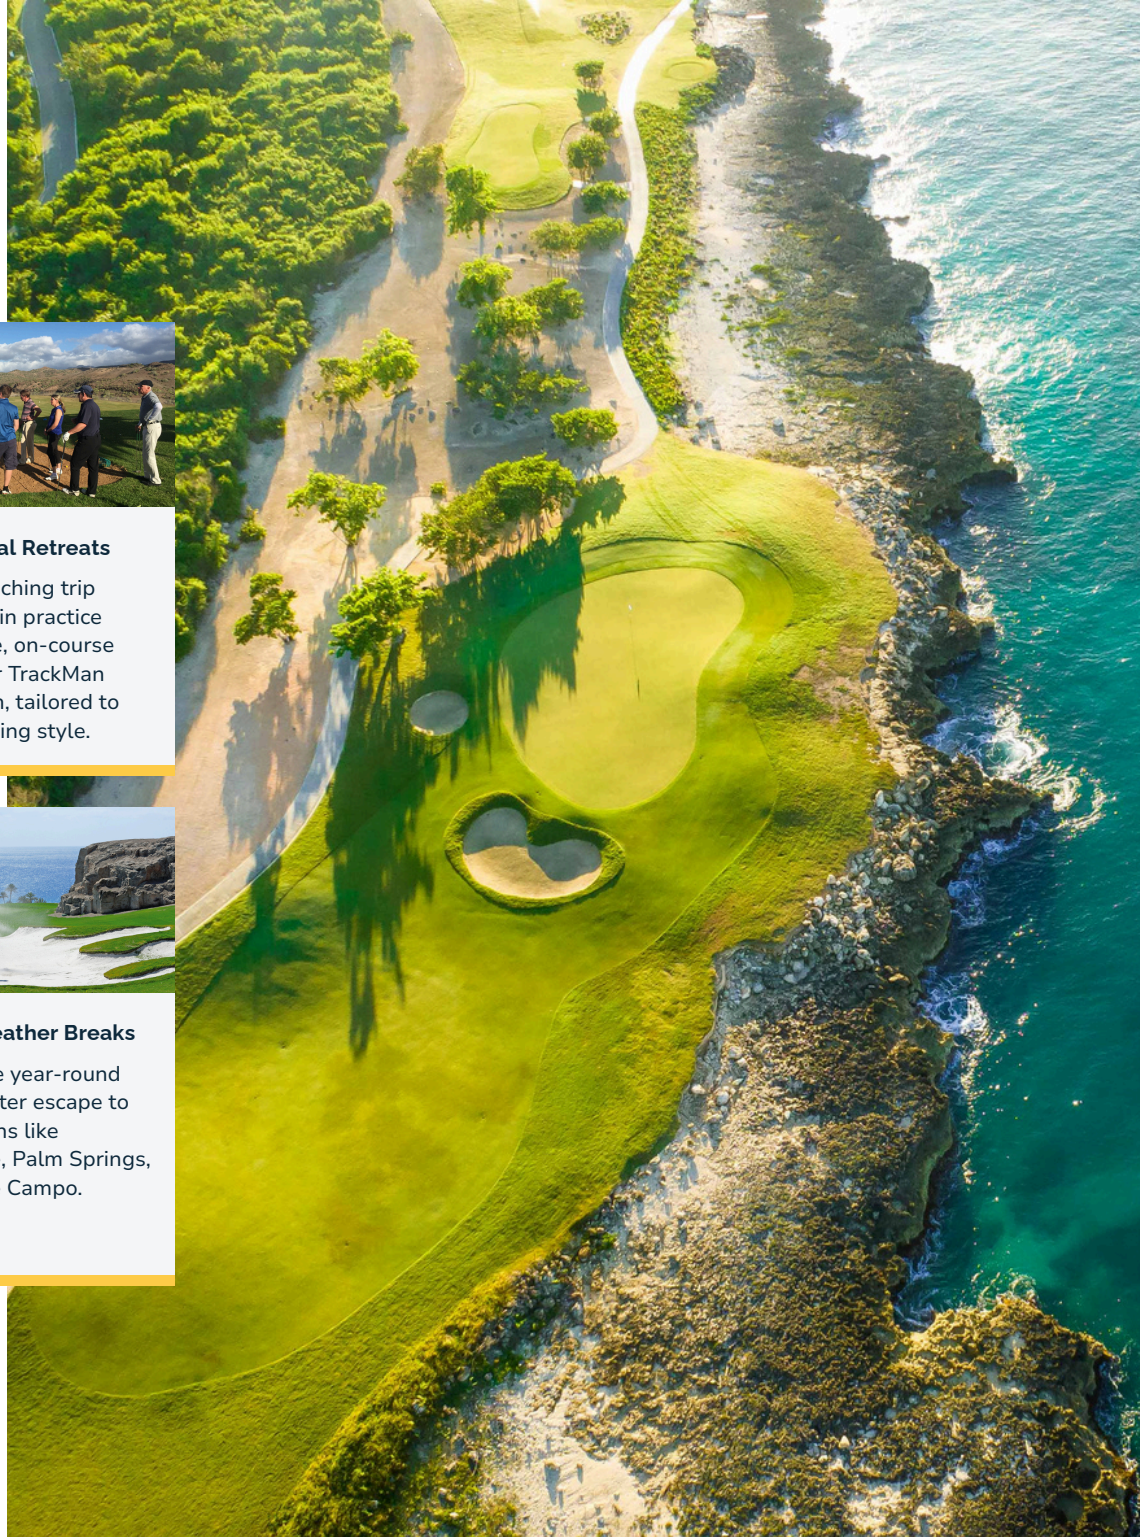

Tournament Travel

Bring your group to see The Masters, Ryder Cup, or U.S. Open, and extend the trip with nearby golf and hospitality packages.

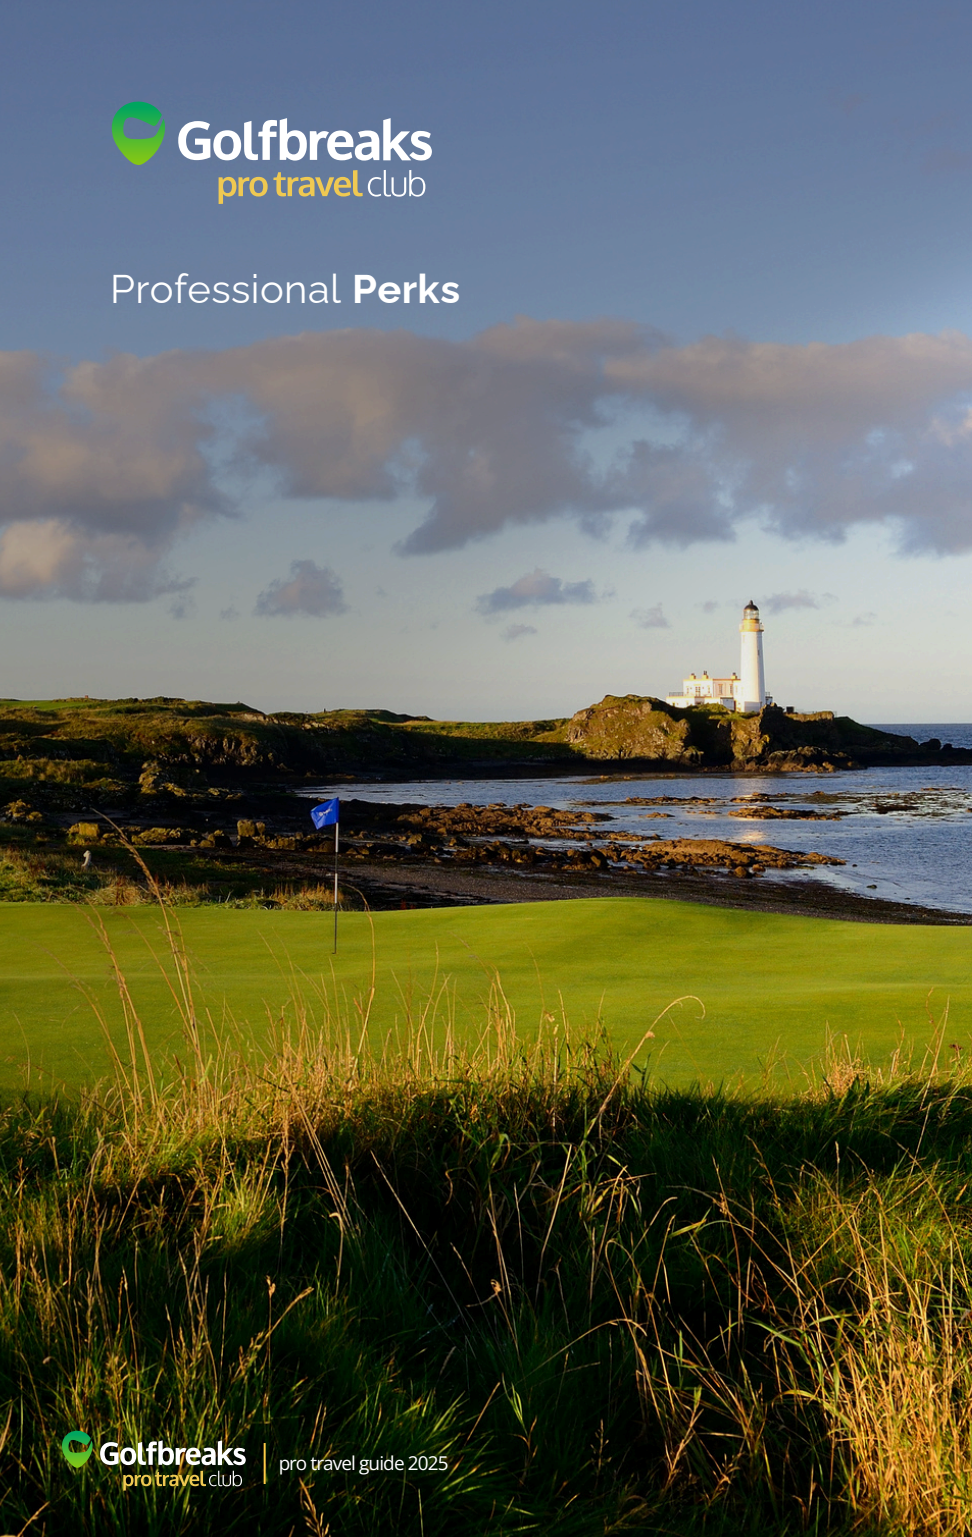

Warm-Weather Breaks

Stay active year-round with a winter escape to destinations like Scottsdale, Palm Springs, or Casa de Campo.

Professional Perks

Why more PGA Pros are turning to Golfbreaks

Here are 6 key reasons to get involved:

Additional income stream

Earn meaningful commission for each group trip you host. From domestic packages to international tours, it's a low-lift way to generate extra revenue.

Elevate your professional brand

Be seen as a leader who creates premium experiences, not just lessons. Offering curated trips builds credibility and enhances your value to the club.

Retain and attract members

Unique travel opportunities can make the difference when a member is deciding where to stay or when recruiting new ones to your club.

Extend your coaching season

Travel to warm-weather destinations like Scottsdale, Palm Springs, or the Dominican Republic during your off-season to keep lessons and engagement going.

Strengthen member relationships

Golf trips foster meaningful time with clients—on the course, over dinner, and during travel—building loyalty beyond the practice range.

Fund future projects

Whether it's TrackMan upgrades, apparel orders, or junior program improvements, commissions from one or two trips can help fund bigger goals.

Let's talk about your goals.

We'll help you pick the right destination, build the itinerary, and handle the details while you grow your income and deliver something unforgettable.
