

Charitable Contributions Frequently Asked Questions

At Johnson and Johnson Vision, we are determined to redefine healthy sight for life. From elevating eye health awareness and increasing access to vision care, minimizing our impact on the planet, and strengthening the neighborhoods in which our teams live and work – we strive to support healthy communities with heart, coming together to protect our most precious sense.

Through our community contributions and outreach, Johnson and Johnson Vision empowers nonprofits to help people see better, connect better, live better. While we primarily focus on eye health initiatives, our charitable contributions also support select programs related to:

Healthy Vision

Healthcare Access

STEM

Healthy Communities

General Information

Is SC Johnson the same company?

No, SC Johnson is an independent company with no relation to Johnson & Johnson, the Johnson & Johnson Foundation, Johnson & Johnson Vision, or any other Johnson & Johnson Operating Company (e.g., DePuy, Ethicon, Janssen, etc.).

Is Johnson & Johnson Vision the same thing as the Johnson & Johnson Foundation?

No, the Johnson & Johnson Foundation is a registered charitable organization currently operating globally as Johnson & Johnson Foundation US (founded 1953) and Johnson & Johnson Foundation Scotland (founded 2007).

- Note: Our Johnson & Johnson Vision charitable contributions process is not related to any funding provided – or programs/initiatives overseen – by the Johnson & Johnson Foundation.

About the charitable contributions process

When does Johnson & Johnson Vision contributions cycle open for application submissions?

The application timelines vary from year-to-year, so applicants are encouraged to review the application timelines located on our corporate social responsibility webpage prior to applying.

- Note: Applications submitted prior to the start of our annual application cycle – or after it has closed for the year – are ineligible for funding consideration and will be declined.¹

How often may we apply for Johnson & Johnson Vision contributions consideration?

Eligible applicants may submit one charitable contributions application per calendar year, regardless of the final funding decision (i.e., approved or declined).

- Note: Refer to the eligibility guidelines on our corporate social responsibility webpage for a list of criteria that determine applicant eligibility.

If we submit a contributions application to Johnson & Johnson Vision, is funding guaranteed?²

No, submission of an application does not constitute an offer or guarantee of charitable contributions funding from Johnson & Johnson Vision.

If our organization received contributions funding from Johnson & Johnson Vision in a prior year, does our current application have a higher likelihood of being approved/awarded funding?

No, applications are independent occurrences evaluated competitively against other submitted requests – with priority given to innovative programs (aligned with our strategic focus areas) that have measurable outcomes. At a minimum, the applicant should include information on:

- The activities (and associated goals) for the program in which funding is being requested
 - The anticipated community engagement/participation rate for the program
 - How the specific program currently makes a difference in the community and/or participants' lives
 - How the program results/metrics are substantiated (e.g., community feedback, changes in knowledge/skills/behaviors, participant success stories, etc.)

How soon after applying will we be notified of our application's funding decision?

Most applicants are notified of the final decision within 90 days of submitting their application:

- Approved for the amount requested in the contributions application
- Approved for less than the requested in the contributions application
- Declined

²The only entity authorized to make charitable contributions funding decisions on behalf of J&J Vision is our charitable contributions committee, which does so through the formal charitable contributions process. The committee neither acknowledges, nor provides funding for, charitable contributions commitments (made by anyone) that occur outside of our formal application portal and process.
