

tastyfx Customers introduced by tastytrade – Important Information

tastytrade is registered with the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (“CFTC”) as an Introducing Broker (“IB”) and is a Member of the National Futures Association (“NFA”), and in such capacity, is engaged in the business of introducing customer foreign exchange (“Forex,” or “FX”) accounts to tastyfx, LLC (“tastyfx”), a CFTC-registered retail foreign exchange dealer (“RFED”) and NFA Member.

tastytrade and tastyfx are separate but affiliated legal entities through common parent company ownership and are not responsible for each other’s business, products, services, or policies.

Key Differences

Key differences between tastyfx customer accounts introduced by and through tastytrade and other tastyfx accounts include:

- tastytrade introduced forex customers must have an open tastytrade individual margin account in order to apply for an introduced tastyfx forex account.
- tastytrade introduced customers open a separate forex account with tastyfx but trade forex through the tastytrade platform via the Microsite. tastytrade introduced customers are unable to trade their tastyfx account through tastyfx’s website. tastytrade introduced customers are unable to trade their tastyfx account through third-party platforms offered by tastyfx (e.g., MT4 or TradingView).
- tastytrade introduced customers may only fund their tastyfx account through their existing tastytrade account. Introduced customers cannot fund their introduced tastyfx account directly from their bank.
- tastytrade introduced customers may only withdraw funds from their introduced tastyfx account to their linked tastytrade account. Introduced customers cannot withdraw funds from their introduced tastyfx account to their bank account.
- At this time, tastytrade introduced customers may not open a joint account at tastyfx.

Important Notes:

- For customers introduced to tastyfx by tastytrade, closure of your tastytrade account will result in the automatic closure of your tastyfx account.
