GUESTROOMS & SUITES

From the moment hotel guests arrive at ARIA, their stay is intricately choreographed to meet their personal preferences. Smart solutions throughout the guestroom also enhance the experience. It all starts with the RFID room key ensuring they will never need to return to the Front Desk due to demagnetization. As guests approach their room or suite, our room system recognizes if this is their first time in the room and “greet” them as they enter. Light fills the room, the curtains automatically part to showcase the spectacular city or mountain views and light music plays as they enter.

Once settled in their room, guests can use the 11-inch bedside tablet to truly customize their space. “Scenes” are available to automatically set a mood, or they can control a dimmer for each and every light to make the room just right. Then, guests can lay back and order in-room dining from the same touchscreen, or simply browse restaurant menus and other property amenities at their leisure. When it’s time to sleep, guests can simply hit the “Goodnight” button—either on the wall next to the bed or within the tablet—and automatically shut the curtains, turn out the lights and turn off the TV.

When guests wake up in the morning via the programmable alarm clock—which opens the curtains, adjusts the room temperature, turns on the TV to their favorite channel and adjusts the lighting—they will be just a few taps away from their conference schedule if they are staying for a convention, or a spa treatment request if they are visiting for pleasure. Property-wide high-speed Wi-Fi allows for industry-leading connectivity in each room, at the pool and everywhere in between.

Deluxe Rooms

The rooms at ARIA have quickly become the new standard in Las Vegas hotel luxury. INTERNET CONNECTIVITY

At the heart of all Convention technology needs is the Internet access provided to the ballrooms and meeting rooms. The Internet pipes are serviced by redundant high-speed connections ranging in bandwidth from 150 MB to 300 MB per second. These connections are made via redundant fiber links directly to the carrier from two different facilities. The Internet data will then traverse a fully redundant and routed gigabit backbone network to each of the Convention sites. The final connection to the customer can be made either via fiber or Category 6 cabling on the show floor at speeds of 10 MB, 100 MB or 1,000 MB. In order to provide a higher level of convenience to the customer, wireless connectivity is available within all meeting and pre-function areas. Guests who wish to utilize our Business Services Center will also be able to take advantage of the same high-speed Internet access being provided throughout the Convention Center.

High-speed wireless Internet is included with the daily resort fee and can be accessed throughout the entire ARIA Campus.

MEETING PLANNERS GUIDE

MEETING PLANNING TOOLS

For your convenience, below is a description of some of the more commonly utilized meeting room setups.

Conference

Sometimes referred to as a boardroom-style setup, participants are seated on all four sides of a table. For smaller groups (16 people or fewer), a single conference table is typically used. For larger groups, several 6' x 30" or 8' x 30" tables are often combined to create a solid rectangular table. The conference-style setup is often used for board meetings, committee meetings and other smaller functions at which interaction between participants is expected. This design also can be used for high-level food and beverage functions with a small number of guests. Conference-style seating requires about 30 square feet per person.

Schoolroom

Sometimes referred to as a classroom-style setup, long 18"-wide tables are positioned in front of rows of chairs facing the speaker. The tables usually abut one another, although tables that extend beyond the stage ideally should be angled toward the speaker in order to provide better viewing. Schoolroom-style is the best setup for situations in which the presenter is expected to do most of the talking and/or delegates must take notes, refer to material in binders or work on computer equipment. It's also the most comfortable design for very long sessions. Schoolroom seating requires about 21 square feet per person for up to 300 people and 17 square feet per person for more than 300 people.

Hollow Square

30"-wide rectangular tables are arranged in a square or other multisided design in which the center of the design is empty. Larger committee or board meetings of 17 to 30 people, at which interaction among attendees is important, can benefit from the hollow rectangle design. (Note: Avoid long, straight sections of tables over 12 feet long. Octagons and hexagons work well to improve sight lines among participants). Hollow square-style seating requires about 30 square feet per person.

U-shape

Rectangular tables are positioned to form a "U." Seating is usually on the outside of the U, but it's possible to seat delegates on both inside legs of the U. The U-shape setup is often used for board of directors meetings, committee meetings and breakout sessions involving audiovisual presentations because all attendees can see the AV when the screen is placed at the open end of the U. U-shape-style seating requires about 35 square feet per person.

Theater

Sometimes referred to as audience-style, chairs are lined up in rows facing the speaker. The rows can be straight, semicircular or herringbone (angled toward the front of the room). If space isn't an issue, it's best to offset each row so that delegates are not sitting directly behind one another. When attendees take on the characteristics of an audience (i.e., listening to a speaker or watching a slide presentation), theater-style is the most efficient setup. This design is also used to maximize the seating capacity of meeting rooms or allow the audience to be as close to the speaker as possible. It is not recommended for taking notes, referring to material in binders or any event at which food and beverage is served. Theater seating requires about 9.5 square feet per person.

Crescent Round

Attendees are seated at round tables—usually 60", 66" or 72" in diameter. The two or three chairs in which delegates would have their backs to the speaker are removed, thus forming a "crescent" of seating facing the speaker. This design works well when you need to use a room for meals and for an educational session that immediately follows. It's also appropriate for general sessions where attendees break into small discussion groups in the same room.

Banquet

Guests are seated at round tables—usually 60", 66" or 72" in diameter. Banquet-style is the setup of choice for most meal functions. In addition, it's appropriate for small committee meetings and small breakout or study groups involving group interaction and/or note-taking.

Additional Function Space Considerations

Receptions	Approximately 9 to 10 square feet per person for standard bars with light hors d'oeuvres.
Stage Height	To determine the recommended height of the stage, take the length of the room and divide by 50. For example, if the length of the room is 125 feet, the stage height should be at least 30" high ($125' / 50 = 2.5'$ or 30").
60" Rounds	Approximately 13.5 square feet per person with eight people per table. To figure out the maximum number of round tables per row, divide the length or width of the room by 10 feet. Note that any required aisles then need to be taken into account.
66" Rounds	Approximately 13.5 square feet per person with nine people per table. To figure out the maximum number of round tables per row, divide the length or width of the room by 10.5 feet. Note that any required aisles then need to be taken into account.
72" Rounds	Approximately 13.5 square feet per person with 10 people per table. To figure out the maximum number of round tables per row, divide the length or width of the room by 11 feet. Note that any required aisles then need to be taken into account.
Dance Floor Size	Number of people x 2.5 square feet per person assuming about 1/3 of the group is dancing at any one time. (Example: 600 dinner attendees; $600 \times 1/3 = 200$; 200×2.5 square feet = 500-square-foot dance floor).

MEETING PLANNERS GUIDE

Basic Screen Size Recommendations

Up to 25 people	60" x 60" screen
25 – 50 people.....	70" x 70" screen
50 – 100 people.....	84" x 84" screen
100 – 150 people	96" x 96" screen
150 – 200 people	7.5' x 10' screen
200 – 300 people	9' x 12' screen
300 – 500 people.....	10.5' x 14' screen
500 – 750 people	12' x 16' screen
750 – 1,500 people.....	15' x 20' screen

As audience size increases, additional screens will be required; the bottom of the screen should be at least 4’ above the floor. The first row of seats should be no closer than twice the height of the screen. The last row should be no further than eight times the height of the screen.

SAFETY & SECURITY

Our goal is to provide you and your group with the premier conference experience and assist you in maximizing your experience. The following guidelines are provided to help assure the safety of your group while at ARIA.

Fire prevention is one of our primary safety concerns. ARIA's convention area is equipped with a state-of-the-art fire prevention and sprinkler system with 24-hour monitor control by ARIA personnel. In the event of a fire, call 77911 on a house phone to report the incident. In order for the system to be fully effective, it is most important that there is no interference with sprinkler heads, fire extinguishers, fire hoses and fire exit doors. It is also important to assure that you never block designated emergency exits and pathways with displays, stanchions, freight or other materials. Your Convention Services Manager must approve all displays and decorations. Mylar balloons are not allowed. All display decorations must be treated with fire retardant. SUSTAINABILITY

The Aria Campus reflects an optimistic vision of the future, a vision that combines a healthy quality of life with a global commitment to sustainable design. Eight award-winning architects have engineered a city within a city, where residents and visitors can live, work and play. This vibrant community will transform your expectations, providing a remarkable demonstration that a community can be both beautiful and sustainable.

The Aria Campus Commitment to Sustainability includes:

Conserving Water

The Aria Campus is located in a beautiful desert valley. Our architects and planners have integrated water conservation measures throughout the community. From beautiful, specially designed low-flow bathroom fixtures to a highly efficient irrigation system, the Aria Campus design conserves water, a precious resource.

Preserving Indoor Environmental Quality

Bold new construction strategies will ensure that the air you breathe at the Aria Campus is clean and fresh. Construction crews implemented innovative new techniques to minimize pollutants in the air-conditioning system. Materials utilized during facility construction were chosen to minimize emissions of volatile organic compounds (VOCs). These strategies ensure the health and comfort of our guests and visitors.

Conserving Energy

The Aria Campus dramatic design and exciting amenities utilize natural light and innovative strategies to conserve power, and much of the power used by the Aria Campus is generated on site. The Aria Campus cogeneration solution utilizes the excess heat generated by the on-site power plant to heat water for use by guests. This reduces demand on the power grid and benefits the entire community.
