GREETINGS FROM THE BIG TEN

With the 111th season of Big Ten college football hitting the fields in the fall, the conference is prepared for another successful season both on and off the field. This prospectus is intended to assist the media's preparation for another great Big Ten football season. For additional information, please feel free to contact the Big Ten Communications office. Thank you for your coverage of Big Ten football and we look forward to working with you this season.

Big Ten Media Days and Kickoff Luncheon

The 2006 Big Ten Football Media Days and 35th annual Kickoff Luncheon will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, August 1-2, at the Hyatt Regency Chicago, featuring all 11 head coaches and some of the conference's top returning players. For credential application information, please contact either Scott Chipman or Robin Jentes at the Big Ten office.

Internet

The Big Ten Conference official website can be accessed by visiting www.bigten.org. Statistical information and standings for all sports are updated on the website frequently. Additional information such as schedules, news releases, feature stories and links to each Big Ten university and athletic department web site can also be found on the site.

For updates on all Big Ten Conference Championships, log on to www.bigten.org. The Big Ten website is best viewed by using current versions of either Netscape Communicator or Microsoft Internet Explorer.

Publications

Big Ten Conference publications are available for sale to the general public by contacting the Big Ten office.

Teleconference

Big Ten football coaches will participate in a weekly media teleconference on Tuesdays from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. CT. Contact the Big Ten Communications office for the teleconference phone number and schedule.

Big Ten Players of the Week

Big Ten Football Players of the Week are selected in three categories: offensive, defensive and special teams. The Big Ten office will announce weekly football award winners on Mondays. Award winners are chosen by a vote of the Big Ten Communications staff from nominations supplied by the sports information offices.

Other Awards and Honors

Additional awards are selected for each conference sport. In football, coaches and a media panel each choose All-Conference teams (First, Second and Honorable Mention). Coaches and media pick Big Ten Offensive and Defensive Players and a Freshman of the Year. The coaches select the conference Offensive and Defensive Linemen of the Year, while the media vote on the Dave McClain Coach of the Year award. The Big Ten Chicago Tribune Most Valuable Player is chosen from each of the 11 institutions' MVPs.

The Big Ten also names one Sportsmanship Award honoree from each institution in the sport of football. These 11 student-athletes become candidates for the Big Ten Sportsmanship Award, as the conference honors one male and one female student-athlete from each institution at the end of the school year.

Academic All-Big Ten teams are named for every sport. The teams are composed of all letterwinners who have a cumulative grade point average of "B" or better. Freshmen and first-year junior college transfers are not eligible for Academic All-Big Ten selection.

2006 Football Prospectus

Preseason Notes

Welcome Back: Returning to Big Ten fields in 2006 are 18 All-Conference players from last season, including six first team honorees and 12 second team selections. The first-team returnees are comprised of three offensive standouts, two defensive players and one punter. The second team picks include six players on offense, five on defense and one kicker. In addition, 22 honorable mention honorees from last season also return to campus.

ALL-BIG TEN FIRST-TEAM RETURNEES

OFFENSE

Matt Spaeth, SR, TE, MINN

STATS: 26-333 yards, 4 TDs

Ranked third on the team with 26 receptions for 333 yards while his four touchdowns were the second-highest total among all Gophers.

Levi Brown, SR, OL, PSU (Coaches only)

Led Penn State to its second Big Ten title and first BCS bowl victory and earned second-team All-America accolades from the Associated Press after spearheading an attack that ranked second in the league and among the top 15 in the country in both scoring and rushing offense.

Joe Thomas, SR, OL, WIS

Named a second-team All-American by the Walter Camp Football Foundation after helping the Badgers rank third in the league (and 14th nationally) with 34.3 points per game and blocking for running back Brian Calhoun, who rated second in the conference and sixth nationally with 125.8 yards per game.

DEFENSE

Ken Iwebema, JR, DL, IOWA (Media only)

STATS: 48 tackles, 10.0 TFLs, 7.0 sacks

Led Iowa with seven sacks (-38 yards) as a sophomore and ranked third with 10.0 TFLs (-51 yards) while racking up 48 tackles.

Paul Posluszny, SR, LB, PSU

STATS: 116 tackles (64 solo), 11.0 TFLs

Winner of the Bednarik and Butkus Awards and earned consensus first-team All-America honors after leading PSU with 116 tackles and adding 11.0 TFLs (-38 yards) and 3.0 sacks (-21 yards).

Familiar Faces in Starting Lineup: Eight of the Big Ten's 11 teams return more than half of their starters from a season ago, as Illinois leads the way with an astounding 21 of its 24 starters back on the field in 2006. The Illini lead the conference with 10 of the 11 starters returning on both offense and defense along with a two-year starter at kicker. Northwestern ranks second with 17 starters back on campus while Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota each bring back 16 starters. The Wildcats rank second behind Illinois with eight starters returning on both offense and defense. Ohio State also has eight returning offensive starters but brings back only two starters on defense, the lowest number among league schools. The Wolverines and Wisconsin equal Northwestern with eight starters back on defense, although the Badgers return only three offensive starters, the least of any Big Ten team. The breakdown of starters returning and lost appears above while a complete list is located on each team page.

The Year of the QB: For the first time in more than 20 years, the Big Ten will feature nine returning starters at the quarterback position entering the 2006 campaign. Since 1986, the Big Ten has returned eight starting signal callers on seven occasions, most recently entering the 2003 season. The following year in 2004, the conference was forced to replace six starting quarterbacks and the league is reaping the benefits in 2006. Of the current group of nine returnees, six signal callers feature two years of experience in the starting lineup including Iowa's Drew Tate, Michigan's Chad Henne, Michigan State's Drew Stanton, Minnesota's Bryan Cupito, Ohio State's Troy Smith and Wisconsin's John Stocco. The three returning quarterbacks entering their second year as starters are Illinois' Tim Brasic, Indiana's Blake Powers and Purdue's Curtis Painter. Northwestern and Penn State are the only schools breaking in new starters at quarterback after the Wildcats' Brett Basanez and the Nittany Lions' Michael Robinson concluded their careers by sharing Big Ten Offensive Player of the Year laurels last season.

The QB Class of 2006: Seven of the Big Ten's nine returning starters at quarterback broke the 2,000-yard mark last season, while five connected on 20 or more scoring strikes and five completed more than 60 percent of their passes. In addition, eight of the league's top 10 passers in both pass efficiency and yards per game will be back on the field in 2006. The conference's five-most efficient passers from last season will be back under center including Ohio State's Troy Smith, who led the Big Ten with a pass efficiency mark of 162.7, the second-highest rating for all games in the last decade behind the 166.4 produced by Michigan State's Jeff Smoker in 2001. The Spartans' Drew Stanton ranked second last season with a passer rating of 153.4, followed by Wisconsin's John Stocco (150.5), Iowa's Drew Tate (146.3) and Minnesota's Bryan Cupito (145.9). Departed NU quarterback Brett Basanez led the league with 301.8 passing yards per game last season while the next seven names on the final stats will be back in uniform, including Stanton (279.7), Tate (235.7), Cupito (230.0), Stocco (224.6), Michigan's Chad Henne (210.5), Indiana's Blake Powers (209.5) and Smith (207.5). Above is a chart listing the statistics of the Big Ten starting quarterbacks returning to the field in 2006.

Who's Catching All The Passes?: In addition to nine starting quarterbacks returning in 2006, the Big Ten also brings back some top wideouts. Among the pass catchers, underclassmen Dorien Bryant of Purdue and James Hardy of Indiana ended last season ranked atop the league stats in receptions and yardage per game, respectively. Bryant, who will be a junior in the fall, led the Big Ten with 7.27 catches per contest after hauling in 80 passes for 960 yards and four touchdowns. Hardy, who will be a sophomore in 2006, racked up 89.3 yards through the air in each game to top all league standouts. He finished his first season with 61 catches for 893 yards and 10 touchdowns, the second-highest total among all conference wideouts. Other wide receivers returning after ranking among the top 10 in those categories last season are Northwestern's Shaun Herbert (3rd with 6.58 rpg and 6th with 71.8 ypg), Michigan State's Jerramy Scott (8th with 4.45 rpg and 9th with 65.6 ypg) and Ohio State's Ted Ginn, Jr., (7th with 66.9 ypg).

Rushing Back to the Field: Despite the fact that the Big Ten's top two rushers last season (Minnesota's Laurence Maroney and Wisconsin's Brian Calhoun) left early for the NFL, five of the top eight ground-gainers will be toting the ball in the fall. That group of returnees will be led by Big Ten Freshman of the Year Tyrell Sutton of Northwestern, who ranked third in the league and eighth nationally with 122.8 yards per contest and third in the conference with 16 rushing touchdowns. Iowa's Albert Young, who topped the league in rushing in Big Ten games only, ended the year fourth in the conference for all games with 111.2 stripes per outing and was followed by Ohio State's Antonio Pittman (5th at 110.9 ypg), Penn State's Tony Hunt (7th at 87.2 ypg) and Michigan State's Javon Ringer (8th at 74.3 ypg).

Sophomore Sensations: Freshmen had a big impact on the football field for Big Ten teams in 2005 and those standouts will return for a second helping of league action in 2006. Northwestern running back Tyrell Sutton was named the National Offensive Freshman of the Year by The Sporting News and the Big Ten Freshman of the Year. He was also one of six first-year league standouts to be named to The Sporting News Freshman All-American first team, along with Iowa defensive tackle Mitch King, Minnesota defensive end Steven Davis, Ohio State cornerback Malcolm Jenkins, Penn State all-purpose player Justin King and Wisconsin defensive end Matt Shaughnessy. King was one of four Penn State freshmen to boost the Nittany Lions to a share of the Big Ten crown thanks to an improved offense, which led the conference at 35.2 points per game just one season after ranking last in 2004 with only 12.9 points per outing. Penn State's top three receivers last year were all in their first season on the field -- redshirt freshman Deon Butler (37-691 yards, 9 TDs) and true freshmen Jordan Norwood (32-422) and Derrick Williams (22-289, TD). Also on the receiving end, Indiana boasted one of the league's top wideouts in freshman James Hardy, who led the conference with 89.3 receiving yards per game and ranked second with 10 scoring catches, while hauling in 61 passes for 893 yards.

On the Defensive: The Big Ten also returns some impressive performers on the defensive side of the ball, headlined by Penn State linebacker Paul Posluszny. A first-team All-American and the winner of the Bednarik and Butkus Awards last season, Posluszny is the conference's leading returning tackler at 9.7 per game (116 total), good for fifth in the league last year. He is joined on the Nittany Lions by defensive tackle Jay Alford, a second-team All-

Preseason Notes

Conference pick who is the league's leading returner in sacks with 8.5 last season (fourth in the conference). Iowa defensive end Ken Iwebema earned first-team All-Big Ten accolades from the media last season after collecting 48 tackles, 10.0 tackles for loss and 7.0 sacks. Michigan linebacker LaMarr Woodley racked up 14.0 TFLs in 2005, the fourth-highest total in the Big Ten and the top returning total for next season. In the defensive backfield, Northwestern's Marquice Cole picked off five passes to rank second among all league players last season and earn second-team All-League laurels. The Big Ten also returns three other standouts that earned second-team All-Conference honors in Wolverines defensive back Leon Hall, Ohio State defensive lineman Quinn Pitcock and Wisconsin defensive back Roderick Rogers.

New Head Badger: The Big Ten will feature one new head coach in 2006 in Wisconsin's Bret Bielema. The Badgers' defensive coordinator the last two seasons will replace outgoing coach and current Director of Athletics Barry Alvarez. Bielema will be the youngest head football coach in the Division I-A ranks after helping the program win 19 games over the last two years. He was the co-defensive coordinator at Kansas State under head coach Bill Snyder from 2002-03 after spending nine seasons as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Iowa, where he worked for head coaches Hayden Fry and Kirk Ferentz. Head coaches for whom Bielema has worked – Alvarez, Snyder, Ferentz and Fry – have combined to win 547 games and guide their teams to 41 bowl games. Bielema will begin his head coaching career on Sept. 2 against Bowling Green.

Walker and Ferentz Near Landmark Wins: Northwestern's Randy Walker and Iowa's Kirk Ferentz will both be aiming for landmark victories at the start of the 2006 campaign. Walker, beginning his eighth year in Evanston, has produced a record of 96-81-5 in 16 seasons at Miami (Ohio) and NU and needs four more wins to crack the century mark. Ferentz, entering his eighth campaign in Iowa City, boasts a record of 49-36 with the Hawkeyes and is aiming to join Hayden Fry (143-89-6 from 1979-98) and Forest Evashevski (52-34-4 from 1952-60) as only the third Iowa coach to collect 50 triumphs.

Carr and Paterno Climbing Century Club Ladder: Penn State's Joe Paterno and Michigan's Lloyd Carr joined the Big Ten century club last season, becoming just the 11th and 12th head coaches to collect 100 victories at a conference institution. Paterno enters the 2006 campaign ranked 11th on the all-time list with a record of 107-50 since joining the league in 1993, just just a few victories behind Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty (10th with 109 wins) and Ohio State's John Cooper (9th with 111). Carr will be the 2006 season with a mark of 102-34 in 11 seasons in Ann Arbor. The complete list of coaches in the Big Ten century club appears to the right.

Big Ten Coaches

Among Nation's Best: Seven of the Big Ten's 11 football head coaches appear on the current list of top 30 active coaches in victories (five or more years as a head coach), more than any other conference in the country. The SEC boasts five coaches among the active victory leaders followed by the Big 12 and WAC with four a piece. The Big Ten features two of the top four coaches in active triumphs in Penn State's Joe Paterno (2nd with 354) and Ohio State's Jim Tressel (4th with 185). Other league mentors among the top 30 include Michigan State's John L. Smith (T13th at 128), Minnesota's Glen Mason (17th at 117), Purdue's Joe Tiller (19th with 106), Michigan's Lloyd Carr (T21st with 102) and Northwestern's Randy Walker (26th with 96). Three conference coaches also appear among the top 15 active coaches in winning percentage in Carr (11th at .756), Paterno (12th at .750) and Tressel (13th at .725). The complete list of top 30 coaches in career victories appears to the right.

Breaking Down the 2006 Schedule: The 2006 Big Ten non-conference schedule features 10 games against 2005-06 bowl opponents, as nine of the 11 league programs will face at least one bowl team. Penn State may face the most challenging schedule with two of its four non-conference foes playing in a bowl last season, including Notre Dame (Fiesta) and Akron (Motor City). Big Ten teams will actually take on the Fighting Irish in four consecutive weekends next season beginning with the Nittany Lions in South Bend on Sept. 9, followed by a road test for Michigan (Sept. 16), a home contest for Michigan State (Sept. 23) and a road game for Purdue (Sept. 30). Five other Big Ten squads will play one non-conference bowl opponent as Illinois will travel to Rutgers (Insight), Minnesota will face a road test at California (Las Vegas), Ohio State will take on defending national champion Texas (Rose) on the road, Iowa will host Iowa State (Houston) and Northwestern will battle Nevada (Hawaii).

No Plays for 2006: Each year, two Big Ten teams do not meet. Here is the breakdown of "no-plays" for 2006:

Big Ten Co-Champion

BIG TEN BOWL WRAPUP

A Pair of BCS Wins: The Big Ten produced a perfect 2-0 record in Bowl Championship Series (BCS) games for the third time in the system's eight years after Penn State knocked off Florida State in the Orange Bowl and Ohio State defeated Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl. The conference also boasted two BCS victories in 1999 (Wisconsin in Rose, Ohio State in Sugar) and 2000 (Wisconsin in Rose, Michigan in Sugar). The Big Ten is the only conference to rack up multiple BCS wins in three different years. The only other leagues to win two BCS games in a single season are the SEC (1999, 2002) and Pac-10 (2001).

BCS Success: The Big Ten leads all conferences with eight BCS victories and 13 berths overall since the system was created for the 1998-99 season. The SEC ranks second to the Big Ten with seven BCS triumphs and 11 appearances while the Big 12 has also played in 11 BCS games. The complete breakdown of BCS records by conference appears to the right. Ohio State is a perfect 4-0 in BCS games, the most wins of any team in the country, while Wisconsin is one of only three programs (along with LSU and Texas) to boast a 2-0 mark in the BCS.

ALL-TIME BCS RECORDS

League	Record
Big Ten	8-5
SEC	7-4
Pac-10	6-4
Big 12	5-6
Big East	4-4
Mountain West	1-0
ACC	1-7
Independents	0-2

Three More Bowl Wins: With a record of 3-4 during the 2005-06 bowl campaign, the Big Ten has recorded three or more bowl wins in four straight seasons for the first time in conference history. The Big Ten was an impressive 5-2 in 2002 followed by three victories in both 2003 (3-5) and 2004 (3-3). The league's 14 bowl wins over a four-year period is tied for second all-time behind the conference's 16 postseason triumphs during the 1996 (4-3), 1997 (2-5), 1998 (5-0) and 1999 (5-2) bowl campaigns.

Conference Call: The Big Ten's total of three bowl wins last season was tied for third among all conferences behind only the ACC and Big 12, which both recorded 5-3 marks. The complete conference-by-conference bowl breakdown appears to the left.

Bowl Coaching Greats: Two different Big Ten coaches appear atop the NCAA charts for bowl victories, appearances and winning percentage for a career. Penn State's Joe Paterno improved his bowl record to 21-10-1 to stand atop the career postseason victory chart, now two triumphs ahead of Florida State's Bobby Bowden (19-9-1), who lost to the Nittany Lions in the Orange Bowl. Paterno also tops all coaches with 32 bowl appearances in his career. In his final game as the Wisconsin head coach, Barry Alvarez improved to 8-3 in bowl games for a winning percentage of .727, the highest in NCAA history. The NCAA's list of winningest bowl coaches includes only mentors with 11 or more bowl games. Alvarez is followed by Georgia Tech's Bobby Dodd (9-4, .692), Bowden (.672) and Paterno (.672).

Bowl Winners: The Big Ten's 3-4 bowl record last season included victories in the Capital One, Fiesta and Orange Bowls. Wisconsin sent Alvarez off with a victory in his final game with the Badgers with a convincing win over Auburn in the Capital One Bowl. Ohio State has won four straight bowl games for the second time in school history after defeating Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl. The Buckeyes' only other four-game bowl winning streak occurred over two decades with Rose Bowl titles in 1949, 1954, 1957 and 1968. In its first BCS appearance, Penn State edged Florida State in triple overtime in the Orange Bowl with Paterno building on his NCAA record with a 21st bowl triumph.

Close Calls: The Big Ten's four bowl defeats last season came by a combined 26 points, with three of the four losses decided by a touchdown or less. Michigan was edged by Nebraska, 32-28, in the Alamo Bowl with the Cornhuskers scoring the winning touchdown with less than five minutes remaining and the Wolverines final drive stalling after an eight-lateral play ended just 13 yards from the endzone. The Music City Bowl was decided by only three points with

2005 Season in Review

Virginia taking a 34-31 lead on a field goal with 1:08 on the clock before Minnesota's last drive resulted in an interception in the endzone. Northwestern twice cut the deficit to only five points in the final three minutes against UCLA in the Sun Bowl only to see the Bruins' return a pair of onside kicks for touch-downs after each score, the last occurring with 18 seconds on the clock to seal a 50-38 defeat. Iowa rallied from a 24-point deficit against Florida in the Outback Bowl to pull within 31-24 with 1:24 on the clock before the Gators recovered the onside kick.

Bowl Attendance: Four of the Big Ten's seven bowl games drew sellout crowds while the Fiesta Bowl attracted its largest attendance ever for a non-championship game. The conference's seven postseason games attracted 372,811 patrons for an average of 53,259 per contest, including full houses for the Sun, Outback, Fiesta and Orange Bowls.

Working Overtime: Penn State took part in the longest bowl game in Big Ten history when the Nittany Lions defeated Florida State in triple overtime in the 2006 Orange Bowl. The last conference bowl game to need an extra session was the 2004 Capital One Bowl, where Georgia edged Purdue, 34-27. The only other league team to play more than one extra session in a postseason game is Ohio State, as the Buckeyes defeated Miami (Fla.), 31-24, in double overtime in the 2003 Fiesta Bowl to clinch the national title. In eight years of the BCS, only three games have needed extra time and the Big Ten has been a part of all three contests -- the two games mentioned above and the 2000 Orange Bowl with Michigan edging Alabama, 35-34, in overtime.

Seven Teams Go Bowling: The Big Ten's seven bowl berths following the 2005 season matched the second-highest total in conference annals, trailing only the league record of eight bowl participants established following the 2003 campaign. The Big Ten also qualified seven schools for postseason play after the 1993, 1996, 1997, 1999 and 2002 seasons. The conference sent six or more teams to bowl games for the seventh straight year and 14th time overall. League programs have now made 66 bowl appearances over the last decade (1996-2005) and 219 appearances all-time.

Big Ten BCS Duos: In Ohio State and Penn State, the Big Ten sent a pair of teams to BCS games for the fifth time in the system's eight years. Since the inception of the BCS in 1998, the Big Ten has qualified 13 teams for BCS bowls, more than any other conference. The league also sent a pair of squads to BCS games after the following seasons - 1998 (Ohio State, Wisconsin), 1999 (Michigan, Wisconsin), 2002 (Iowa, Ohio State) and 2003 (Michigan, Ohio State).

Winningest Programs Square Off: Four of the top five winningest programs in NCAA history faced off in Big Ten bowl games with Michigan battling Nebraska in the Alamo Bowl and Ohio State challenging Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl. With bowl play concluded, the Wolverines currently rank first in college football annals with 849 victories, followed by the Fighting Irish (second with 811 wins), Cornhuskers (fourth with 794) and Buckeyes (T-fifth with 774). In addition, Penn State ranks seventh with 771 wins all-time.

Bowl Veterans: The Big Ten boasts three of the 11 programs with 37 or more bowl appearances in Penn State (8th with 38), Michigan (T9th with 37) and Ohio State (T9th with 37). The Nittany Lions are tied for third all-time with 24 bowl triumphs while the Wolverines and Buckeyes are tied for 12th with 18 wins.

Bowl Streaks: Michigan's current streak of 31 consecutive bowls is the longest active streak in the nation. Meanwhile, Iowa is one of only four schools to play a January bowl game in each of the last four seasons along with USC, Georgia and Florida State.

BIG TEN BOWL TOP PERFORMERS

OFFENSE

IOWA QB Drew Tate: Completed 32-of-55 passes for 346 yards and three TDs against Florida in the Outback Bowl, including two scoring strikes to wideout Ed Hinkel in the fourth quarter as Iowa rallied within a TD after trailing 31-7.

MINN QB Bryan Cupito: Established career best with four TD passes against Virginia in the Music City Bowl, completing 18-of-28 passes for 263 yards.

MINN WR Ernie Wheelwright: Hauled in seven passes for 120 yards and a touchdown against the Cavaliers.

NU QB Brett Basanez: Set Sun Bowl record with 448 yards of total offense, including connecting on 38-of-70 passes for 416 yards and two TDs vs. UCLA, rallying the Wildcats within five points twice in the last three minutes.

OSU WR Ted Ginn, Jr.: Career-high 167 receiving yards with a TD on eight receptions while adding a 68-yard scoring run in the Fiesta Bowl.

OSU QB Troy Smith: Named Offensive MVP of the Fiesta Bowl after setting a career high with 342 passing yards, completing 19-of-28 passes with two TDs and adding 66 yards on the ground in the victory over Notre Dame.

PSU QB Michael Robinson: Completed 21-of-39 passes for 253 yards and a TD while adding 21 rushing yards in victory over Florida State in Orange Bowl. PSU RB Austin Scott: Stepped in after starter Tony Hunt injured an ankle and ran for a season-high 110 yards on 26 carries (4.2 avg.) with two touchdowns in Orange Bowl triumph over Florida State.

WIS RB Brian Calhoun: Named MVP of the Capital One Bowl after racking up 213 yards on 30 carries (7.1 avg.) with a touchdown in a win over Auburn.

WIS WR Brandon Williams: Set career-high and UW bowl record with 173 receiving yards on six receptions (28.8 avg.) with a touchdown vs. Auburn.

DEFENSE

IOWA LB Abdul Hodge: Established an Outback Bowl record with 19 tackles, including 14 solo stops, with a TFL against Florida.

MICH CB Leon Hall: Named Alamo Bowl Defensive MVP after picking off two passes and adding four tackles against Nebraska.

MINN LB John Shevlin: Tied for team lead with 10 tackles (eight solo) and produced two TFLs, a sack and a fumble recovery against Virginia.

NU LB Tim McGarigle: Collected a game-high 17 tackles, including nine solo stops and a half of a TFL, against UCLA.

NU DE Kevin Mims and LB Nick Roach: Both returned an interception for a TD in the first quarter as NU set a Sun Bowl record with 22 first quarter points.

OSU LB A.J. Hawk: Named Defensive MVP of Fiesta Bowl after recording a game-high 12 tackles (nine solo), including 3.5 TFLs and two sacks.

OSU DE Mike Kudla: Set career high with three sacks against Notre Dame, part of a seven-tackle performance in the Fiesta Bowl.

PSU DT Jay Alford: Collected 2.5 TFLs, including 1.5 sacks, and forced a fumble against Florida State in the Orange Bowl.

PSU LB Dan Connor: Posted a team-best seven tackles, including two TFLs, to lead a PSU defense that limited FSU's offense to one TD in regulation.

WIS LB Mark Zalewski: Recorded eight defensive stops and two TFLs, including an eight-yard sack, to help UW hold Auburn to a season-low 10 points and 236 yards of total offense.

SPECIAL TEAMS

IOWA KR Damian Sims: Returned five kickoffs for 107 yards vs. Florida.

MICH KR/PR Steve Breaston: Produced 224 all-purpose yards, setting an Alamo Bowl record with 146 kickoff return yards and adding 72 punt return yards.

PSU P Jeremy Kapinos: Punted a career-high 11 times for 487 yards (44.3 avg.) with a long of 54 and three inside the 20 against Florida State.

WIS P Ken DeBauche: Averaged 45.3 yards on three punts against Auburn, including a 58-yard boot and one kick placed inside the 20-yard line.

2005 Season in Review

Big Ten Standouts Claim National Honors: Big Ten student-athletes collected five national awards last season, the highest total since league standouts took home seven national accolades following the 2002 campaign. A pair of Big Ten standouts each claimed two national trophies in Minnesota center Greg Eslinger (Outland and Rimington Trophies) and Penn State linebacker Paul Posluszny (Bednarik and Butkus Awards) in addition to one national accolade for Ohio State linebacker A.J. Hawk (Lombardi Award). The last Big Ten student-athlete to pick up multiple national awards was Nittany Lions' running back Larry Johnson, who earned the Walter Camp Player of the Year, Maxwell and Doak Walker Awards in 2002.

National Coach of the Year: Penn State's Joe Paterno picked up multiple national honors following the 2005 campaign, including being named the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA), Associated Press, Bobby Dodd, Home Depot, Munger and The Sporting News National Coach of the Year. In his 40th season as head coach, the PSU mentor led the Nittany Lions to an 11-1 record, a share of the Big Ten Championship and an Orange Bowl victory over Florida State. Paterno is second in all-time victories among major college coaches and fourth in wins across all four NCAA divisions with a 354-117-3 career record. He has now won an unprecedented five AFCA National Coach of the Year awards and was also honored in 1968, 1978, 1982 and 1986. The only other major college coaches to earn AFCA Coach of the Year more than once are Alabama's Paul "Bear" Bryant (on three occasions) and USC's John McKay and Texas' Darrell Royal (on two occasions each). The last Big Ten coach to be named the AFCA National Coach of the Year was Ohio State's Jim Tressel in 2002.

Farewell to a Legend: Wisconsin's Barry Alvarez concluded a 16-year career as the Badgers' head coach with a victory over Auburn in the school's first trip to the Capital One Bowl. He ended his time on the sidelines with a record of 118-73-4 and his 118 career wins rank eighth on the all-time victory list for conference coaches. Alvarez took UW to 11 bowl games in his 16 years and produced an 8-3 record, including three Rose Bowl victories. He remains in his position as Wisconsin's Director of Athletics, while Bret Bielema, who served as the Badgers' defensive coordinator the last two seasons, has taken over the head coaching duties.

Smart Players: The Big Ten topped all conferences with eight members of the 2005 ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America Football Team, an increase of two over the league's six honorees from last season. The Big Ten's eight Academic All-Americans included three first-team selections in Indiana's Will Meyers, Iowa's Mike Elgin and Penn State's Paul Posluszny. The league's five second-team choices were Michigan's Jason Avant, the Michigan State duo of Chris Morris and Drew Stanton and the Minnesota pair of Greg Eslinger and Mark Losli. Eslinger was one of only six student-athletes to repeat as Academic All-Americans after being honored as a second-team selection in 2004. To be eligible for Academic All-America honors, a student-athlete must be a varsity starter or key reserve, maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.20 on a scale of 4.00 and have reached sophomore athletic and academic standing at his current institution.

Everybody's All-American: Four Big Ten standouts were named consensus All-Americans in Minnesota's Eslinger, Ohio State's Hawk and the Penn State duo of Tamba Hali and Posluszny. The Big Ten and the SEC tied for third among all leagues with four consensus picks, trailing only the Pac-10 (7) and Big 12 (5). The Nittany Lions were one of only five schools with multiple consensus All-Americans along with Georgia, Texas, UCLA and USC. In addition to the four consensus selections, 11 other Big Ten players earned All-America accolades from the American Football Coaches Association, Associated Press, Football Writers Association of America, Sporting News or Walter Camp Football Foundation. Those honorees include Iowa's Chad Greenway, Minnesota's Laurence Maroney and Mark Setterstrom, Northwestern's Zach Strief, Ohio State's Bobby Carpenter and Nick Mangold, Penn State's Levi Brown and Alan Zemaitis and Wisconsin's Brian Calhoun, Joe Thomas and Brandon Williams. The complete list appears to the right.

2005 Season in Review

Double-Digit Wins: For the third time in four years and just the eighth time in conference history, three Big Ten teams ended the season with double-digit wins in Penn State (11-1), Ohio State (10-2) and Wisconsin (10-3). The league produced at least three teams with 10 or more victories in both 2003 (Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio State) and 2002 (Iowa, Michigan, Ohio State) while also accomplishing the feat with four programs in 1999 and three schools in 1998, 1993, 1903 and 1902. Over the previous decade (1996-2005), 23 conference teams have posted 10 or more wins and nine squads have racked up 11 or more victories. Penn State produced its first 11-win season since 1996 and 13th year of 11 or more victories under Paterno. Ohio State hit double-digits for the third time in the last four years and the 15th time in school annals. Wisconsin hit the 10-win mark for the first time since 1999 and just the fourth time in program history.

Ohio State and Penn State Share Big Ten Title: In the final weekend of conference action, Ohio State and Penn State secured a share of the 2005 Big Ten Championship by taking care of business on the road. The Buckeyes were the first team to hit the field as they met Michigan in Ann Arbor for the 102nd meeting in the all-time series. The Wolverines built a 21-12 advantage with less than eight minutes remaining before OSU rallied for the win, with Antonio Pittman scoring on a three-yard run with only 24 seconds left to give the Buckeyes a 25-21 victory and a share of the crown. The Nittany Lions then took the field in East Lansing and built a 17-0 halftime lead over the Spartans before holding on for the 31-22 triumph to split the conference title.

Buckeyes Win 30th Big Ten Championship: Ohio State picked up a share of the 30th Big Ten title in school history, the second-highest total among all league programs behind only Michigan (42). The Buckeyes have now won two conference championships in head coach Jim Tressel's five years at the helm and four crowns in the last decade, also splitting the title in 1996, 1998 and 2002. The Wolverines lead the way with five championships in the last 10 years (1997, 1998, 2000, 2003, 2004), followed by OSU's four crowns and a pair of first-place finishes for Iowa (2002, 2004), Northwestern (1996, 2000) and Wisconsin (1998, 1999).

Penn State's Second Title: The Nittany Lions and head coach Joe Paterno picked up their second Big Ten Championship since joining the conference in 1993. PSU placed third in the standings in its first season before claiming the Big Ten title with a perfect 8-0 mark in 1994 -- part of an undefeated 12-0 campaign including a Rose Bowl victory over Oregon. Since joining the league, the Nittany Lions have placed third or better on six occasions -- 1993 (3rd), 1994 (1st), 1995 (T3rd), 1996 (T3rd), 1997 (T2nd) and 2005 (T1st).

Worst to First: Penn State became the third Big Ten program in the last six years to win a conference crown just one season after placing ninth or worse in the league standings. The Nittany Lions produced a 2-6 record during the 2004 campaign to finish in ninth place, only to improve to a 7-1 mark and a conference title in 2005. Illinois produced a similar reversal of fortunes four years ago, winning the 2001 championship with a 7-1 record after tying for ninth at 2-6 in 2000. While the Illini were placing ninth in 2000, Northwestern earned a share of the Big Ten crown with a 6-2 mark just one year after ending the 1999 season in 10th place with a 1-7 record.

Spreading the Love: Parity has reigned over the Big Ten landscape for the last decade (1996-2005) with eight different teams winning the conference title either outright or as a co-champion: Illinois ('01), Iowa ('02, '04), Michigan ('97, '98, '00, '03, '04), Northwestern ('96, '00), Ohio State ('96, '98, '02, '05), Penn State ('05), Purdue ('00) and Wisconsin ('98, '99). The title has been shared by at least two teams six times in this span, with a pair of three-team ties in 1998 and 2000 and two teams atop the standings in 1996, 2002, 2004 and 2005.

Big Ten Championships for Current Coaches: Six current league coaches have earned at least one Big Ten crown in their careers. The complete list is below:

- 5 Lloyd Carr, MICH (1997, 1998, 2000, 2003, 2004)
- 2 Kirk Ferentz, IOWA (2002, 2004)
- Jim Tressel, OSU (2002, 2005)
- Joe Paterno, PSU (1994, 2005)
- 1 Randy Walker, NU (2000)
- Joe Tiller, PUR (2000)

Nittany Lions Earn BCS Automatic Bid: While both OSU and PSU shared the Big Ten title, the Nittany Lions collected the league's automatic Bowl Championship Series (BCS) berth based on a 17-10 victory over the Buckeyes on Oct. 8. Penn State took part in its first BCS bowl game since the system's inception in 1998, becoming the sixth Big Ten school in eight years to earn BCS automatic qualification joining Illinois (2001), Michigan (2003, 2004), Ohio State (2002), Purdue (2000), and Wisconsin (1998, 1999).

Big Ten's Best BCS Finish: For the first time in Big Ten history, the league placed two teams among the top four in the final BCS standings released on Dec. 4, 2005. Penn State ended the regular season ranked third in the final BCS standings, surpassing the program's previous top final ranking of 11th in 1999, followed by Ohio State at fourth overall, the school's third top-five finish in the last four seasons (5th in 2003, 2nd in 2002). The Big Ten had previously placed two programs among the top five of the final BCS poll in 2003 (No. 4 Michigan, No. 5 Ohio State) and 2002 (No. 2 Ohio State, No. 5 Iowa). Overall, the Big Ten tied the ACC and SEC with five teams among the top 25 in the final BCS poll, including No. 18 Wisconsin, No. 20 Michigan and No. 25 Northwestern.

Big Ten Shatters Three Attendance Records: The Big Ten established three attendance records in 2005 while also surpassing the five million mark in total attendance for just the third time in league history. In 69 contests, the Big Ten averaged 72,566 patrons per outing which shattered the previous league best of 70,505 fans per game set in 2002. In addition, the conference's total attendance of 5,007,067 for all games ranks third in Big Ten annals behind only the 2002 (5,499,439 in 78 games) and 2003 (5,282,102 in 75 games) seasons. Big Ten programs also set records for total and average attendance in conference games only with 3,175,427 patrons in 44 contests for an average of 72,169 fans per outing. The previous league highs were 3,138,387 in total attendance and 71,326 per game, both established in 2001. The Big Ten boasted 38 sellouts last season, which equals the second-highest single-season total in league history behind only the 39 sellouts posted in 2004.

Nation's Best Fans: Big Ten teams fill three of the top four spots in the final NCAA attendance rankings and seven conference programs rated among the top 30 in the country, which ranks second to the SEC (nine top 30 teams) among all leagues. Michigan led the nation with an average of 110,915 patrons per game while Ohio State ranked third (105,017) and Penn State rated fourth

(104,859). Other Big Ten schools to appear among the top 30 in average attendance were Wisconsin (13th with 82,551), Michigan State (20th with 75,183), Iowa (21st with 70,585) and Purdue (26th with 62,996).

Non-Conference Review: The Big Ten produced a record of 28-6 (.824) in non-conference play in 2005, which is the best winning percentage since going 23-4 (.852) prior to bowl play in 1997. In addition, the league's 28 non-league victories were the most prior to bowl play in an 11-game season since Big Ten teams went 28-7 (.800) in 1999. All five of the schools that defeated league programs in 2005 took part in a bowl -- Arizona State (Insight), California (Las Vegas), Iowa State (Houston), Notre Dame (Fiesta) and Texas (Rose).

Road Warriors: Big Ten teams were especially successful on the road last season with a record of 26-27 (.491) in all away games, the league's best road winning percentage and most victories away from home since at least the 2000 season. The Big Ten's previous best road performance in the last six years occurred in 2002 when the programs built a 25-30 (.455) mark in visiting stadiums. In addition, conference teams won 20 of 44 road games in league action, matching the 2002 season for the most successful road campaign since 2000.

Basanez Ends Career Ranked Among Top Two in Five Categories: Northwestern quarterback Brett Basanez ended his stellar career by setting the Big Ten mark with 1,975 total offensive plays in his four years on campus, while finishing second in four other categories. The Wildcats signal caller took part in 78 plays in the Sun Bowl against UCLA to move past Indiana's Antwaan Randle El (1,917) and Purdue's Drew Brees (1,931) to become the Big Ten career leader in the category. Basanez also completed 38-of-70 passes for 416 yards and added 32 yards on the ground against the Bruins to boost his career numbers to 1,584 pass attempts, 923 completions, 10,580 yards through the air and 11,576 yards of total offense. Basanez, the media's choice for Big Ten Player of the Year, ended his time in Evanston ranked second in all four categories behind only Brees. The first-team All-Big Ten selection also cracked the top 10 single-season leaders in all five categories.

More Career Record Chasers: In addition to the performance of Basanez, the Michigan State duo of Brandon Fields and Drew Stanton, Ohio State's Ted Ginn, Jr., and Wisconsin's Brandon Williams also found themselves atop the Big Ten career charts in various categories. Fields, who entered his junior year last season leading the Big Ten in career punting average, maintained his spot atop the rankings with a 45.6 career average with one year to play, just percentage points ahead of Iowa's Reggie Roby in second place (45.5 avg. from 1979-82). Stanton completed 66.7 percent of his passes in 2005, the fifth-best single-season performance in conference history, and surpassed 300 completions for his career to qualify for the top spot in the all-time records with a 65.7 completion percentage. The Spartans standout has one year left to remain ahead of the Hawkeyes' Chuck Long, currently ranked second after completing 65.0 percent of his passes from 1981-85. After setting an NCAA record with four punt return touchdowns as a freshman, Ginn, Jr., added a fifth score on a punt return to equal Iowa's Tim Dwight for the Big Ten career mark. The OSU standout also surpassed 40 career returns to qualify for second with his 15.6 yard average on punt returns, just behind the league record of 16.0 yards per return set by Indiana's Bill Hillenbrand from 1941-42. Williams ended his time in Madison with 106 career kickoff returns for 2,349 yards, which equaled MSU's Derrick Mason for total returns but ranked second to Mason's 2,575 yards. In other return records, Michigan's Steve Breaston climbed to second all-time with 1,267 punt return yards and into a tie for fourth with 98 punt returns.

Carr and Paterno Join Century Club: A pair of Big Ten coaches joined prestigious company last season when Penn State's Joe Paterno and Michigan's Lloyd Carr became just the 11th and 12th head coach, respectively, to collect 100 victories at a conference institution. Paterno, who ended the 2005 campaign ranked second in the NCAA records book with 354 career victories, was the first mentor to join the list after picking up his 100th win since joining the league in 1993 on Sept. 24 at Northwestern. Carr joined the club with an overtime victory at Iowa on Oct. 22, the same weekend that Paterno picked up his 350th career triumph at Illinois. Carr is the third Wolverines head coach on the list along with Bo Schembechler and Fielding Yost.

A New Golden Age of Coaching?: With Alvarez, Paterno and Carr in the century club, the Big Ten featured three active coaches with 100 or more wins at their respective institutions for the first time in more than 85 years. The last time that three league coaches all ended a season with 100 or more wins at their schools was in 1921 when Chicago's Amos Alonzo Stagg (158 wins at the time), Michigan's Fielding Yost (137) and Minnesota's Henry Williams (136) accomplished the feat. The conference coaching roster for 1921 also featured Illinois' Robert Zuppke, who had only 70 wins at the end of that season but would go on to rack up 131 triumphs in his career.

Big Ten Individual Leaders . . . : The Big Ten produced new statistical leaders in every major category during the 2005 campaign. Iowa's Albert Young rallied to become the first Hawkeye to lead the conference in rushing since Dennis Mosley in 1979. The sophomore running back, who ranked fifth among

RECORD NUMBER OF FOOTBALL ACADEMIC ALL-BIG TEN SELECTIONS

As the fall term of the 2005-06 school year ended, the Big Ten recognized a total of 162 football student-athletes who have been named to the Academic All-Conference Team, the highest single-season total in conference history. The previous record of 137 Academic All-Big Ten honorees was established during the 2002 season. To be eligible for Academic All-Big Ten selection, student-athletes must be letterwinners in at least their second academic year at their institution and carry a career grade-point average (GPA) of 3.0 or better. The list of the 2005 football honorees, with Academic All-America selections in bold, follows:

Arthur Boyd III, Brian Brosnan, Brian Grzelakowski, J Leman, Walter Mendenhall, Ryan McDonald, Scott Moss, Josh Norris, Martin O'Donnell, Jason Reda, JJ Simmons, ILL; Tyson Beattie, Lance Bennett, Paul Haan, Adam Hines, Will Lumpkin, Will Meyers, Eric McClurg, Graeme McFarland, Casey Nowinski, Patrick Oldham, John Pannozzo, Russ Richardson, Chris Rudanovic, Josiah Sears, Austin Starr, Kyle Thomas, Kevin Trulock, Yamar Washington, IND; Adam Shada, CJ Barkema, Andrew Becker, Bret Chinander, Michael Elgin, Andrew Fenstermaker, Michael Humpal, Michael Klinkenborg, Matt Kroul, Ryan Majerus, Matt Melloy, Daniel Olszta, Cy Phillips, Kevin Sherlock, Paul Wilson, IOWA; Jason Avant, James Bloomsburgh, Alijah Bradley, Doug Dutch, Tyler Ecker, Matt Gutierrez, Will Johnson, Craig Moore, Ross Ryan, Paul Sarantos, David Schoonover, Mark Spencer, Charles Stewart, Carl Tabb, Jeremy Van Alstyne, MICH; Kiel Beltinck, Todd Boleski, Kyle Brown, Brian Bury, Pete Clifford, Cole Corey, Deon Curry, Tom Dance, Brandon Fields, Brett Kahn, Travis Key, Justin Kershaw, Chris Morris, Jelani Nantambu, Gordon Niebylski, Eric Smith, Drew Stanton, Kaleb Thornhill, MSU; Anthony Brinkhaus, Patrick Cheney, Greg Eslinger, Jeremy Faue, Jason Lamers, Mark Losli, Patrick McCarthy, Robert McGarry, Todd Meisel, Mark Mullaney, Tony Mortenson, Logan Payne, Jarod Posthumus, John Shevlin, Steve Shidell, Matt Spaeth, Tyson Swaggert, MINN; C.J. 2005 Season in Review

all rushers after five Big Ten games, climbed to second place on the charts entering the final weekend of play trailing only Minnesota's Laurence Maroney, whom the Hawkeyes were facing in the regular-season finale. In a matchup of the league's top two ground gainers, Young rushed for 103 yards while Maroney was limited to 10 yards before leaving the game in the first quarter after re-aggravating an ankle injury. Young ended the season ranked first in league games only with 125.2 rushing yards per game, while Maroney topped the Big Ten in all games with 133.1 yards on the ground per outing. Ohio State's Troy Smith led the Big Ten in league games only with a 169.6 pass efficiency rating, making him the first Buckeye quarterback to lead the conference since Joe Germaine in 1998. Northwestern's Brett Basanez produced 339.4 yards of total offense per game to rank first in the league for the second time in his career after leading the way as a freshman in 2002 (250.3 ypg). He became just the second player in the last 20 years to average more than 300 yards of total offense per contest along with Purdue's Drew Brees, who accomplished the feat three times from 1998-2000. On the receiving end, Dorien Bryant became the fifth different Purdue wideout in the last seven years to top the Big Ten in receptions per game with 6.62 catches per outing in conference games only. The Boilermakers offense has produced the leading pass-catcher in six of the last seven seasons, a group that includes Taylor Stubblefield (2002, 2004), John Standeford (2003), Vinny Sutherland (2000) and Chris Daniels (1999). Wisconsin running back Brian Calhoun led the charge in scoring with 10.5 points per game, making him the first UW player to lead the league in points since Ron Dayne in 1999. And in punting, fellow-Badger Ken DeBauche led the Big Ten with 44.4 yards per boot in conference contests only to end the two-year reign of Michigan State's Brandon Fields, who concluded the season ranked fourth with 41.0 yards per punt.

... and Team Leaders: In the team statistics, Ohio State dominated the defensive side of the ball while three different squads topped the charts in the major offensive categories. The Buckeyes led the Big Ten in league games only in scoring defense (14.8 ppg), total defense (271.1 ypg), rushing defense (80.8 ypg) and passing defense (190.4 ypg). The last conference school to rank first in all four categories was Michigan in 2001. The Buckeyes have now topped the conference in points, total yards and rushing yards allowed in three of the last six seasons, including the 2000 and 2003 campaigns. OSU led in scoring defense four times in that six-year span (2005, 2003, 2002, 2000), ranked first in total defense on four occasions (2005, 2003, 2002, 2000) and topped the league in rushing defense three times (2005, 2003, 2000). However, the annual leader in passing defense in the Big Ten records book is determined by pass efficiency rating and Penn State (104.1) edged Ohio State (111.7) for the top spot in that category. The Nittany Lions also led the league in defensive pass efficiency last season with a rating of 92.8. On the offensive side of the ball, Northwestern was the only Big Ten unit to rank among the top five in points, total yards, rushing yards and passing yards per game. The Wildcats topped the conference in both total offense (494.0 ypg) and passing offense (306.6 ypg) while rating fourth in scoring offense (31.6 ppg) and fifth in rushing offense (187.4 ypg). Northwestern ranked first in total and passing offense for just the second time in school annals and the first time since the 1950 squad accomplished the feat. NU most recently led the way in total yardage in 2000 while topping the charts through the air in 1973. Minnesota led the Big Ten with 259.2 rushing yards per outing in 2005 league games, ranking first for the second time in three years (2003). Penn State put up more points than any other league outfit this season with 35.2 points per contest in Big Ten games to lead the way in scoring for the first time since setting the conference record in 1994 (48.1 ppg).

Gophers' Rushing Feat: In addition to leading the Big Ten in rushing, Minnesota became the first program in NCAA history to produce a pair of 1,000-yard rushers in three consecutive seasons. First-team All-Big Ten choice Laurence Maroney was the constant in that three-year span, tallying 1,464 yards in 2005 to become only the third player in Big Ten history to break the 1,000-yard mark in each of his first three seasons, joining Wisconsin's Ron Dayne and Michigan State's Sedrick Irvin. Maroney ended his Gophers' career ranked second in school history with 3,933 yards on the ground. Sophomore Gary Russell was the second Gopher to hit 1,000 rushing yards last season with a career-best 1,130 stripes. Maroney was joined by Marion Barber III with over 1,000 rushing yards in 2004 and 2003.

Badgers' Two-Way Threat: Wisconsin running back Brian Calhoun also entered the conference records book last season. The junior led the league with 1,636 rushing yards while ranking third on the team with 571 yards receiving to become just the second player in NCAA history to record 1,500 yards on the ground and 500 yards through the air. The only other Division I-A player to accomplish that feat was Pacific's Ryan Benjamin. Calhoun is only the second Big Ten player to surpass 1,000 yards rushing and 500 yards receiving along with Iowa's Ronnie Harmon, who racked up 1,166 rushing yards and 699 receiving yards in 1985.

Putting Points on the Board: Big Ten offenses produced points at a record pace during the 2005 season with eight teams averaging 30 or more points per outing and all 11 teams tallying an average of 30.1 points per game, the highest totals for the league since at least 1990. The Big Ten's previous high over the last 15 seasons occurred when six teams averaged 30 points or better in 1999, while the highest average for the entire league was the 28.5 points per contest produced in 2002. Eight conference attacks rated among the top 36 scoring offenses in the country including Minnesota (T10th at 35.8 ppg), Penn State (13th at 34.4), Wisconsin (14th at 34.3), Michigan State (T18th at 33.8), Ohio State (26th at 32.7), Northwestern (28th at 32.3), Iowa (T36th at 30.0) and Purdue (T36th at 30.0).

2005 Season in Review

Wildcats Join 500-Yard Club: Northwestern became just the second team in Big Ten history to average more than 500 yards of total offense per game after ending the 2005 campaign with an average of 500.3 yards per outing (4th in the country). The only other league attack to crack the 500-yard barrier was Penn State's 1994 team that produced 512.7 yards per contest to set a conference record. In addition to the Wildcats offensive explosion this season, two other league outfits ranked among the top five single-season leaders in total offense -- Michigan State (4th with 497.3 ypg; 5th nationally) and Minnesota (5th with 494.8 ypg; 7th nationally).

Gophers Break Through at Michigan: Minnesota snapped the longest current losing streak among all Big Ten series last season with a last-second 23-20 road victory at Michigan on Oct. 8, ending the Wolverine's 16-game winning streak against the Gophers. Minnesota claimed the Little Brown Jug for the first time under head coach Glen Mason and picked up its first triumph over Michigan since 1986, which was also a three-point road win (20-17). The Wolverine's 16-game winning streak ranked seventh all-time among Big Ten streaks, as the longest streak in league annals was snapped in 2004 when Northwestern ended a 24-game skid against Ohio State. Michigan still boasts the longest active winning streak in a conference series with a 13-game string of success against Indiana.

Big Ten on TV: The 2005 campaign featured the most televised contests in conference history for an 11-game season, with 68 of 70 home football games appearing on television. That total included all 44 intraconference and 24 interconference games televised by either ABC Sports, ESPN, ESPN2, ESPN Plus,

2005 All-Big Ten Teams

BIG TEN ANNOUNCES 2005 FOOTBALL ALL-CONFERENCE TEAMS AND INDIVIDUAL HONORS

NU's Basanez and PSU's Robinson Share Offensive Honors while OSU's Hawk Sweeps Defensive Player of the Year Accolades

The Big Ten announced the 2005 All-Conference football teams and individual award winners on Nov. 22 as selected by the coaches and a media panel. For just the sixth time since the award's inception in 1982, two different standouts were honored as the Big Ten Offensive Player of the Year in Northwestern's Brett Basanez (media) and Penn State's Michael Robinson (coaches). The Nittany Lions, who earned a share of the Big Ten title, picked up two more individual laurels when Joe Paterno was tabbed as the media's choice for the Dave McClain Coach of the Year while Tamba Hali was a unanimous selection by the coaches as the Defensive Lineman of the Year. Fellow league co-champion Ohio State also collected some hardware with A.J. Hawk sweeping Defensive Player of the Year accolades from both groups. The Wildcats picked up another individual award with Tyrell Sutton being tabbed the Freshman of the Year by both coaches and media, while the coaches honored Minnesota's Greg Eslinger as the Offensive Lineman of the Year.

Basanez and Robinson are the first players to share Offensive Player of the Year honors since 1998, when Ohio State's Joe Germaine and Purdue's Drew Brees split the end-of-year award. The Big Ten also featured at least two honorees in 1997, 1990, 1987 and 1985.

Robinson boosted the Nittany Lions to their second Big Ten championship since joining the conference in 1993 to become the third PSU player to earn Offensive Player of the Year laurels, along with Curtis Enis (1997) and Kerry Collins (1994). The senior quarterback led the Big Ten's top-scoring offense to 35.2 points per outing in league games only, an increase of more than three touchdowns over an offensive attack that ended the 2004 campaign ranked last in the conference (12.9 points per game). Robinson established a school record with 3,156 yards of total offense, shattering the previous mark set by Collins in 1994, and was responsible for 28 touchdowns, just one shy of a new program-best.

Basanez is the first Northwestern player to collect Offensive Player of the Year accolades after helping the Wildcats return to a bowl game for the second time in his career. The senior quarterback guided an offense that led the way in league games only with 494 yards per outing. He also topped the Big Ten in total offense for the second time in his career with 339.4 yards per contest, making him just the second player in the last 20 years to average more than 300 yards per game along with Purdue's Brees. Basanez joined Brees and Iowa's Chuck Long as just the third signal caller in conference history to surpass 10,000 career passing yards and is one of only three players (along with Purdue's Brees and Kyle Orton) to appear among the top five in career passes, completions, passing yards, total offensive plays and total offensive yards.

Hawk became the third Ohio State standout in the last four years to earn Big Ten Defensive Player of the Year honors following Will Smith (2003) and Michael Doss (2002) and the fifth honoree in school history. The senior linebacker was the only defender to rank among the Big Ten's top five in tackles (4th at 9.5 per game), sacks (2nd with 9.5) and tackles for loss (3rd with 16.5) for all games. He spearheaded an Ohio State attack that led all schools in conference games only in scoring defense, total defense, rushing defense and passing defense, the first unit to accomplish that feat since Michigan in 2001. The winner of the 2005 Lombardi Award was also a finalist for the Butkus and Walter Camp Player of the Year Awards.

Penn State claimed two other individual honors with Hali being tabbed as the Big Ten's Defensive Lineman of the Year and Paterno picking up his second Coach of the Year award. Hali is the third Nittany Lion to be honored as the Defensive Lineman of the Year along with Jimmy Kennedy (2002) and Courtney Brown (1999). The senior defensive end, who was a finalist for the Nagurski Trophy and Ted Hendricks Award, led the Big Ten in all games with 11 sacks and 17 tackles for loss. Paterno guided the Nittany Lions to a share of their second Big Ten title since joining the league in 1993, producing a 7-1 mark to finish atop the league standings just one year after placing ninth in the conference with a 2-6 record. In his 40th year as a head coach, Paterno collects his second Big Ten Coach of the Year laurel after being previously honored during a perfect season in 1994. The Dave McClain Big Ten Coach of the Year award is voted on by a conference media panel and is named for the late Wisconsin coach, who served at the Badgers' helm from 1978-1985. The league dedicated this award to his honor in 1986.

Sutton is the second Northwestern player to earn Big Ten Freshman of the Year honors and the first since Ed Sutter shared the award in 1988. The true freshman running back ranked among the nation's top 20 in both rushing and scoring, setting school freshman records with 122.8 rushing yards (third in league, eighth nationally) and 9.0 points (fourth in league, 16th nationally) per game. For the year, Sutton produced 1,474 yards on the ground in all games, averaging 5.9 yards per carry with 18 total touchdowns.

Eslinger became the first Minnesota player to collect Big Ten Offensive Lineman of the Year honors after blocking for an attack that ranked among the league's top three in rushing yards (1st with 259.2 yards per game), total yards (2nd with 477.0 yards per game) and scoring (3rd with 31.9 points per game) in conference contests only. The senior is also only the fifth player in Gophers history to earn first team All-Conference honors in three straight seasons and the first since linebacker Billy Light accomplished the feat from 1970-72.

Overall, 19 individuals repeated as members of the All-Big Ten first or second team from the prior year, including eight first-team selections from 2004 who are on the 2005 first team - Iowa's Chad Greenway, Michigan's Matt Lentz, Adam Stenavich and Gabe Watson, Minnesota's Eslinger, Laurence Maroney and Mark Setterstrom and Ohio State's Hawk. Eslinger and Hawk are the only three-time first-team All-Big Ten honorees, as Hawk is the first Buckeye to earn three straight selections since Doss from 2000-02.

The conference office also announced honorees from each team for the Big Ten Sportsmanship Award. The student-athletes chosen are individuals who have distinguished themselves through sportsmanship and ethical behavior. In addition, the student-athletes must be in good academic standing and have demonstrated good citizenship outside of the sports-competition setting. Honorees for football are J Leman of Illinois, Russ Richardson of Indiana, Abdul Hodge of Iowa, Carl Tabb of Michigan, Kyle Brown of Michigan State, Eslinger of Minnesota, Basanez of Northwestern, Nate Salley of Ohio State, Robinson of Penn State, Brandon Villarreal of Purdue and Jonathan Orr of Wisconsin. These 11 student-athletes are now candidates for the Big Ten Sportsmanship Award, as the conference office will honor one male and one female student-athlete from each institution at the end of the school year.
