The city of Indianapolis and Lucas Oil Stadium will play host to the eighth annual Big Ten Football Championship Game between Northwestern and Ohio State on December 1, 2018. Ohio State, champion of the East Division, will be the designated home team for this year's contest and will face Northwestern, the champion of the West Division. Kickoff for the game is set at 8 p.m. ET. The winner will earn the Amos Alonzo Stagg Championship Trophy and a chance to play in one of the six bowls that comprise the College Football Playoff, including the Rose Bowl Game.

Ohio State will make its fourth championship game appearance following berths in 2013, 2014 and 2017. The Buckeyes will be seeking their third victory in the contest and second in as many years, having defeated Wisconsin in 2014 and 2017. Northwestern will be making its first championship game appearance, with the Wildcats looking for their first Big Ten Championship since 2000. The Wildcats and Buckeyes last met on Oct. 29, 2016, with Ohio State claiming a 24-20 victory in Columbus.

The Buckeyes, Badgers (2011 and 2012) and Michigan State (2013 and 2015) have each won two Big Ten Championship Games, while Penn State was victorious in 2016. Wisconsin leads all schools with five Big Ten Championship Game appearances, followed by Ohio State with four and Michigan State with three and one title game berth each for Iowa, Nebraska, Northwestern and Penn State.

The Big Ten and Indiana Sports Corp have entered into an agreement to host Big Ten Football Championship Games at Lucas Oil Stadium in Indianapolis through 2021. FOX will serve as the official broadcast partner of the Big Ten Football Championship Game again in 2018.
