Explanation:

Environmental Resilience - Support new ways of conserving and sustainably managing large-scale, globally significant natural environments for the benefit of future generations.

Natural environments preserve biodiversity, maintain water resources and help society respond to climate change. Yet the demands of a growing world population are placing unprecedented pressure on finite land and water resources and accelerating biodiversity loss. This pressure is further amplified by climate change.

For Indigenous peoples with a profound connection to and dependence on traditional lands, natural ecosystems also support their livelihoods and cultures and must be conserved for the benefit of future generations. BHP Foundation's approach to addressing these challenges is to:

- Deliver high-impact, enduring interventions in areas of international significance.
- Engage with people who live in the landscapes, involve them in our efforts, build their capacity and support their livelihoods.
- Initiate projects that enhance policy frameworks and mobilize markets to better value carbon, water and biodiversity.
- Pilot new approaches and share learnings so others can take them on with confidence.
- Support the aspirations of Indigenous people to manage their traditional lands for a range of economic, social, cultural and environmental outcomes.

Explanation:

Natural Resource Governance - To harness the transformative power of natural resource wealth for sustainable and inclusive human development.

Across the world, over 1 billion people in resource-rich countries continue to live in poverty. Corruption and poor governance of the world's natural resources can divert much needed funds from critical development opportunities, which is denying citizens access to quality education, healthcare and other essential services. We are working across the value chain to enhance governance, help eliminate corruption and effect positive change. We seek to improve how natural resources are governed across the entire resource value chain from initial exploration right through to the use of taxes and royalties in providing services to citizens.

Our approach is to build platforms of collaboration between international institutions, governments, civil society and business, and work across the natural resource value chain to enhance governance, reduce corruption and enable people to have agency and voice in decisions affecting them.

Explanation:

Education Equity - Enhance opportunities for disadvantaged young people to access, participate in and achieve a quality education.

Inequality and disadvantage lie at the heart of the global education challenge. Despite global progress in access to education in recent years, more than a quarter of a billion children remain out of school today. Hundreds of millions more are not learning when they are in school. Quality education and learning is the pathway to building the skills and knowledge people need to seize opportunities to enhance their lives and their contribution to communities and societies. This means more children participate in education, are enabled to stay and thrive in school longer to gain a higher level of qualification and skills and can succeed and prosper throughout their lives.

BHP Foundation's approach to addressing these challenges is to:

- Identify new and more effective ways to improve learning outcomes for the most underrepresented and at-risk young people and bring evidence to the forefront of decision-making.
- Support innovations that show promise and have the greatest potential to be scaled and replicated to increase equality, participation and attainment.
- Drive more effective performance in education systems to enhance outcomes and impact including return on effort, investment and resources.
- Empower thought leaders and advocate for policy decisions based on what works around the world.

Explanation:

Chile Country Program - In addition to our Global Signature Programs, the Foundation has identified value in focusing on programs at the country level where they significantly benefit citizens of a given country, build and strengthen relationships. Currently less than 1% of public school students in Chile are achieving advanced levels of digital proficiency. The Chile Country Program aims to support the inclusion of more disadvantaged and vulnerable young people in education, enhance the resilience of communities to respond to rapid social and environmental change, and strengthen the capability of organizations and groups to participate in effective decision-making. Our approach to doing this includes:

- Working across the education sector to prepare students for the jobs of the future through digital education networks
- Promoting citizen voice to build social cohesion
