A Day to Remember

More than 50 years ago, a young girl and her mother went into the city to see a symphony performance. It was just the two of them—one of those “grown up” experiences where traditions begin and memories are made. They ate lunch in a fancy restaurant that served warm, delicious cinnamon buns. Then they walked to the concert hall and admired its pale blue ceiling gilded in gold, gleaming just like the instruments of the tuxedoed musicians. As the lights dimmed, they were swept away by the beautiful music of the orchestra.

When the concert was over, they stepped out onto the busy sidewalk, lined with exquisite windows revealing treasures inside the shops and specialty boutiques. They strolled hand in hand, squeezing their secret code—three squeezes from Mom meant “I love you” and four squeezes from her little girl meant “I love you too.”

That little girl was Pleasant T. Rowland, the founder of American Girl. Her treasured memory of that magical day was the inspiration for the first American Girl store. To this day, every experience exists because we believe our stores should be a place where imaginations soar and memories are made.

So pull up a Treat Seat® and dine with your doll. Enjoy fancy food and friendly conversation. We’re delighted you’ve joined us to continue the tradition of making today one you’ll both remember—forever.
