Quarterly Newsletter of USA Boxing
July 2025

THANK YOU to all USA Boxing members who participated in the 2025 USA Boxing National Junior Olympics and Summer Festival held in Las Vegas, Nevada! Throughout the busy week, we had record-breaking numbers for participation. We added a fifth competition ring and a second sparring ring; we presented a parade of junior athletes; we hosted board meetings and Alumni events; we oversaw multiple training classes and we also witnessed a roll call of boxing celebrities come out to watch and support USA Boxing!

Despite seeing more boxers than ever compete at the National Junior Olympics and Summer Festival, we still had to turn some boxers away who wanted to showcase their skills and continue on their boxing paths. We set minimum standards for bout experience and winning percentage to enter this event for the purposes of limiting the total number of boxers and allowing athletes who were most qualified to compete throughout the week. Simply put, we cannot handle an unlimited number of participants.

There is a portal set up for boxers who wish to gain exemption from this standard, because there will always be extraordinary boxers who should compete but have not yet accumulated the necessary statistics to qualify. Typically, we receive 300-400 requests for exemption, but for Las Vegas, 620 boxers requested exemption! Of those 620 requests, 70% (434) were granted.

There is a HUGE demand from coaches and boxers for top-level competition opportunities! With that said, USA Boxing national events have met these needs in various ways during 2025.

Open events have been expanded to include international competitors, which gives our top boxers more experience before competing at World Boxing events. We have partnered with well-administered regional events to create a Tier-1 Rankings tournament calendar. These Tier-1 rankings events give our boxers more opportunities to increase their standing without committing to a full week of travel expenses and vacation time.

Olympic-style boxing's progress is built upon the hard work and dedication of our coaches and boxers who spill blood, sweat and tears every day in their home gyms and boxing clubs. We must keep pace with their commitment and devotion by innovating bigger and better competitions for them to shine and rise to the top to achieve their goals and dreams.

Disciplinary Process

The Judicial Review Panel is comprised of five members of the USAB staff from different departments. Once a complaint has been received and validated, the process may be to issue an Admin Hold of Temporary Measures against the membership of the accused pending the investigation.

The accused is given the opportunity for their statement regarding the allegations. When possible, the Panel meets up to twice per week and discusses at length, the issue and any disciplinary action(s) against the person(s) who committed the violation(s).

After a decision has been rendered, a letter of "Disciplinary Action" is emailed out with a requested response time for the acceptance or rejection of action. If a rejection is received, the matter is then presented to the Judicial Committee for review and/or hearing. Both the Admin Hold notice and the Disciplinary Letter are copied to the member's home LBC and other parties on a need to know basis only. All cases are strictly confidential at all times and never shared with a 3rd party.

Below is a recap of the reported cases the Panel has worked on in the 2nd Quarter of 2025.

In 2003, finding high-quality boxing gear at prices people could afford was a struggle. So the creators of STING did what they could do best and designed their own gear.

STING saw an opportunity to supply boxing equipment that protected you and your hands whilst providing comfort to the sport. They began by forming glove molds and stitching it all together in a spare room of our small Melbourne-based home.

From a few friends in a spare bedroom, to offices in Australia, New Zealand, America, Canada, England, Greece, Germany and Dubai, STING has come a long way.

STING can now be found in 25+ countries and continues to be enjoyed by boxers of all ranges, both amateur and professional. For more details, click: <https://stingsports.com/>

Hawaiian Punch: Lorenzo Patricio

Wraps Youth Career and Looks to the Future With USA Boxing

When looking for a spark at the USOPC training center, you can generally find it from any of the boxers; however, a noticeable charge can be felt anytime Lorenzo Patricio steps into the building. Lorenzo is in his second year on the Youth High Performance team and usually can be found in the gym putting tireless hours of work with a smile on his face. Lorenzo, commonly referred to as “Sparky” routinely lives up to his nickname with his electric style of boxing. While Lorenzo gives all of his opponents respect and a smile, his goal is always: Eat, Sweep, Repeat. “I get the mantra ‘Eat, Sweep, Repeat’ from my dad. We say eat because we like to have a lion’s mentality. When a lion is hungry, it eats, no matter what the circumstances are. It means that we stay hungry and we’re ready to do whatever it takes in order to get what we want. Sweep means the brooms are out and we’re coming to sweep our brackets and competition.”

After claiming the gold medal at the inaugural World Boxing U19 Championships at 50 kg in Colorado, last year, Lorenzo will now compete in one final youth international competition at the Brandenburg Cup in Frankfurt, Germany. After that, his journey to pursue his Olympic dreams will begin. At the conclusion of the year, Lorenzo will age up into the Elite division and compete at the USA Boxing National Championships as an Elite competitor.

Lorenzo’s potential to challenge the world as an Elite competitor stems from everything that he surrounds himself with. For the Waianae, Hawaii native, he is heavily supported by his family and his culture. In boxing, family is a constant theme, whether it is among teammates or actual familial ties within the sport. But among the Hawaiian islands, Ohana (family) is even more prevalent among natives. That is no different for Lorenzo and the acclaimed Patricio lineage.

“My family and my Hawaiian culture are so critical for my boxing journey because they are two of the many things I wear on my back and represent with pride. My family is one of the most important aspects of my life. They got my back, and I got theirs, no matter what. Each situation we have worked through as a team has brought me to the point I am now. My Hawaiian culture is so important because it is where I was born and raised. Hawaii is one of the states that gets overlooked, because of how isolated it is. All I’m trying to do is represent, show up, give back to the aina (land) and people by bringing more exposure.”

His father and coach, Lyndon, his mother, and each of his seven siblings push him to succeed every single day, whether he is back on the island with them or at a USA Boxing camp or competition. The Patricio family is nationally known for its presence and success at virtually every USA Boxing national event. With roots so deep on the island and within the sport, Lorenzo is constantly lifted by the support that he receives daily. The Patricios have infiltrated the USA Boxing High Performance system incredibly. In addition to Lorenzo, his brother Landon John Patricio also occupies a spot on the 2025 USA Boxing Youth High Performance team as a 55 kg competitor. Additionally, his older sister, Shera Mae, was a member of the 2024 Elite High Performance team before pursuing her professional career.

“Following in the footsteps of Shera, it feels like she gave me the blueprint and all I got to do is execute. Getting to compete alongside my brother Landon makes the tournament so much more special. Last year, I was able to win gold at the U19 World Championship, so just imagining that I can win another international tournament, but this time alongside my brother, is like a dream come true.”

While his older siblings have laid the groundwork for Lorenzo to flourish within the sport, it is not lost on him that he has the opportunity to do the same for his younger siblings. “Being able to pioneer the route for my younger siblings is a task I’m glad I’m able to take. I get to be the person they get to look up to and follow, so this kind of keeps me in check to make sure I’m the best for them and everyone else that looks up to me.”

With the upcoming Brandenburg Cup set to be his final international performance as a Youth team member, the future is bright for Sparky. Lorenzo is poised to continue his boxing success as an Elite competitor, and his relentless drive will position him as a contender within the USA Boxing system. While his immediate goal is to secure a gold medal at the Brandenburg Cup, the next phase of his amateur career is about to begin.

“Next for me as a competitor in the Elite division for USA Boxing is grinding, staying tunnel visioned, and going for gold in the 2025 USA Boxing National Championships in December. I like to take my time with decisions and take things one step at a time. My main goal: make the Elite team through the selection process.”

While Lorenzo’s future in the sport is nearly as unpredictable as his boxing style, one thing is certain: he is prepared to succeed. His journey is just beginning, and USA Boxing is prepared to watch the fireworks that he is sure to enact in the ring. Tune in for Lorenzo Patricio’s 2025 Brandenburg Cup run next week and follow Team USA’s journey HERE.

USA BOXING ANNOUNCES REGIONAL RANKING TOURNAMENTS CALENDAR

Following record participation at the National Junior Olympics and Summer Festival held in June, the USA Boxing National Office is establishing a Regional Events Calendar for the Summer and the remainder of the calendar year.

“It’s become very obvious that our Boxers and Coaches DEMAND more competition opportunities and especially at the highest levels. They want to challenge their capabilities and also keep an incentive for the boxers to stay dedicated and consistent in and out of the gym,” USA Boxing’s Senior Manager of Events & Operations Michael Campbell noted.

USA Boxing’s National Championship Events, including the National Junior Olympics and year-ending National Championships, are considered to be “Tier 3 Rankings Events” while National Open events, such as the National and International Opens, Women’s Championship and Summer Festival are classified as “Tier 2 Rankings Events.” For more information on Tier Rankings go to: <https://shorturl.at/2MI5Y>.

“Rankings are synonymous with the sport of boxing. Coaches and boxers work hard nearly every day of the week, year-round, and recognition comes sparingly. The USA Boxing rankings are the organization’s way to demonstrate to its supporters; parents, family, local businesses and other sponsors that their efforts are rewarded and celebrated,” Campbell emphasized.

The relationship between the National Events Staff and the large Regional Events did not just begin recently. USA Boxing national events staff has supported many regional events in many avenues over recent years, including marketing, officiating, registration, advice and oversight.

“We have refined our formula for national events over the years and we share those best practices and processes with our Regional Event Directors,” added USA Boxing Regional Events Coordinator Tanner Wiebelhaus.

USA Boxing has not awarded a Tier 1 Rankings Event since the 2018 National Junior Golden Gloves tournament. For 2025, six regional tournaments have been selected to gain Tier 1 Rankings status.

“We’ve discussed with each regional event and will be actively involved in each with various capacities, but generally speaking, our requirements must be met, which center around USA Boxing members that participate while having a good experience,” Campbell shared.

These events have a proven track record and are committed to being well-organized with adequate resources available, and they will make every effort to ensure good quality officiating and fair decisions. Each event will invite National-level Officials to fill key roles in their event so that our national processes are incorporated.

These events will be evaluated and adjusted on a continuous basis and could change at any time, depending on the commitment and performance of the event organizers. Two events happened this month: National Junior Golden Gloves in Chattanooga, Tennessee and the Rival OKC Championships in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Earlier this month, boxers competed at the National Junior Golden Gloves, which is one of the many regional events, USA Boxing sanctions and supports.

Volunteer Spotlight

USA Boxing would like to take this opportunity to highlight a key volunteer within the organization, Dr. Leah Goedecke. Leah is a staple within USA Boxing local, regional and national events and serves as a ringside doctor, furthering the importance of medical care to the many USA Boxing members at various competitions. After taking up the sport as a competitor during her college days in Tucson, Arizona, Dr. Goedecke saw an opportunity to pursue a career within the medical field while also keeping her love for boxing at the forefront of her mind. Following in the footsteps of her father, who was also a physician, Leah saw USA Boxing's need for ringside doctors while in medical school and made the decision to further engrain herself within the sport.

Dr. Goedecke has served USA Boxing as a ringside doctor for the past five years and was recently named the chairperson of the USA Boxing Women's Committee. She cites her experience as a boxer as a way to interact with competitors at events and instill the medical knowledge that she has gained as a physician. As a female physician, she is committed to creating an equal playing field for male and female athletes and continues to provide incredible insight for female competitors, in addition to their male counterparts.

"I think everyone has their own goals and motivation," Leah stated about her presence as a physician within the USA Boxing organization. "Mine has just always been that I want to leave a legacy. I want to leave the world a better place, so leaving something where someone else can benefit and grow from it is why I have trailblazed to this and allow people to follow those footsteps."

Leah Goedecke is a constant voice in the safety and wellbeing of USA Boxing competitors and continues to lead by example. Her presence is felt at each USA Boxing event, and she is a constant voice that is focused on empowering athletes in their individual journeys within the sport.

Dr. Leah Goedecke, thank you so much for the time and effort that you put into our organization. We at USA Boxing are incredibly proud to have you as a part of the USA Boxing family!

FORMER USA BOXING MEMBER AKEEM CHEATHAM STEPS ONTO THE BIG SCREEN IN FILM TITLED TKO

USA Boxing is built upon the diverse array of life experiences that its members deal with daily. For one former USA Boxing member, Akeem Cheatham, he has progressed through our organization as a member and now focuses on his acting career.

After collecting numerous titles as a competitor within the USA Boxing system, Cheatham now turns the focus that pushed him as a competitor into a new avenue, one that places him on digital streaming platforms and in theaters alike. In his latest venture, he has taken on a role that hits close to home for him and many other USA Boxing members, past, present and future. Cheatham recently completed filming for a movie titled TKO, in which he portrays Sean, an up-and-coming boxer who is reunited with his estranged father to begin training for a career as a pro boxer.

"It just brought me back to every experience I had competing in a national tournaments at USA Boxing events," Cheatham recalls of his experience filming for TKO. "When I got the script, it just reminded me so much of my personal life. I wanted to take on the character and start building the character as a real person."

Cheatham was quick to participate in the film when he was offered the starring role because of what the message meant to him and so many other athletes who have grown up within the sport and the USA Boxing organization. For him, this was not a paycheck; it was personal, and it was a role that he felt passionately about because of the opportunity it presented to shed light on a group of athletes and the sport.

While the opportunity has been critical for Cheatham's acting career, it has also granted him the opportunity to shed light on a sport that is once again on the rise for global notoriety. As a child, Cheatham had dreams of representing the United States in the ring on the international stage, like so many others. However, through the discipline that he gained as a USA Boxing competitor, he found his calling on the big screen and acknowledges that he may never have gotten there had it not been for his time within the organization.

"It was absolutely important because I need to represent for all the kids that grew up in USA Boxing," Cheatham noted on his opportunity to portray his character's story in the film. "Representation is so important because there are many kids that grew up in USA Boxing. They do good, they want to do good. They want to be great, but sometimes that's just not their path. Sometimes they just fall out of it [the sport]. Money problems, parental problems, all of that is something that can take a real dedicated child, who's trained hard, his or her entire life. I just wanted to represent and be able to really show people that we know and understand your story."

Just like so many other USA Boxing members, Cheatham is just scratching the surface of his greatness. In boxing, just like life, individuals must roll with the punches and take on any new challenge that is presented to them. The discipline that boxing instills in grassroots competitors is a trait that more people should stand to learn. Cheatham is a product of that discipline and love for the craft, which he uses to drive him in his acting career.

One thing is certain about Cheatham's role in this film, and that is his message for USA Boxing members who may be going through the struggle of getting through a practice, or an even more dire situation in their personal lives. He is resolute on the message that he wants his audience to take away from his portrayal in the TKO film. "I want them to take away that no matter how bad life can get for you, personally, there's always an opportunity and there's always a way to be able to come out with something positive. I want all the USA Boxers to know that they are seen and they will be seen by the whole world. USA Boxers are in the position of being leaders."

USA Boxing members can watch Akeem take on his role in the TKO film now on Tubi as a Tubi original. Cheatham is joined by notable cast members like Robert Ri'chard, Marques Houston and Clifton Powell.
