Preserve, Protect, Educate, Recreate

Conservation Parks provide residents and visitors with amazing outdoor experiences, while supporting environmental conservation and protecting wilderness areas. These efforts ensure that the natural resources that make your favorite outdoor adventures possible will endure to provide enjoyment for future generations.

The Conservation and Environmental Lands Management department protects natural resources in the following ways:

- Control invasive and exotic plant species
- Mitigate overuse of natural areas
- Restore natural plant communities and ecosystems
- Conduct prescribed burns to improve wildlife habitat and reduce wildfire risk
- Provide environmental education programming and outreach
